Heavy Loss Is Caused By Mysterious Fire In Seventh Ward

Seventh Ward Structure Is Gutted By Fire

Mystery Blaze In Two-Story Building Causes $45,000 Damage Monday Night

FIREMAN BATTLE BLAZE SIX HOURS

Was Used For Storage Of Building Supply Machinery By M. J. Scanlon

Road building machinery, builder's supplies and tools were destroyed when a large two-story wood and stone building at the end of Montgomery avenue, seventh ward, serving as a storage place for Michael J. Scanlon, contractor, was wiped out by a mysterious fire, last night.

Damage of $45,000 was estimated by Fire Chief Lynn, who continued his survey of the fire today. Firemen battled the blaze for six hours.

Many firemen and volunteers were called to the fire following a second alarm sent at 8:45 p. m. Monday, five minutes after seventh ward firemen arrived on the scene in response to a telephone and a box alarm.

Firemen were at the fire until after 3 o'clock this morning.

Machinery Lost.

Flames were confined chiefly to the supply building which had also been used as a barn in past years. A smaller frame building north of the barn was on fire at different times but was saved.

Three large concrete mixers, centrifugal pumps, a considerable amount of tools, road paving machinery and other supplies not yet

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Lawn mowers have been seen in action on many of the well kept lawns about the city already this spring. This is the earliest that lawns have been cut in many years. The exceptionally hot weather of the past week has brought the grass along at a fast rate, so that cutting is necessary.

New Castle city council is right in going ahead with plans for having as much paving and street improving done this summer as possible. The cost of having this work done this summer will be less than it has for many years, and probably lower than it will be in the immediate future.

Upstate New York and Massachusetts report having a mild earthquake shock late Monday afternoon.

"The most attractive public square in years" is how one resident referred to the city's diamond plot this morning. Pa Newc agrees with him, for never have the grass and trees been so well groomed. Let's keep it that way for strangers to see this summer.

A car with a Connecticut license stood only a short distance today from another carrying Delaware plates on East Washington street, and farther down the thoroughfare was another with Wisconsin tags.

It was funny how different folks were talking 'the postoffice' this morning. Persons in the postoffice lobby, buying stamps or depositing mail, seemed to speak of it sort of instinctively.

Real community spirit was shown at the Seventh ward fire last night when residents aided volunteers and regular firemen to lay the hose.

Motorists were cautioned against running over the firemen's hose. Pa Newc saw one man get a tag from a policeman for going over an unprotected line.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather bureau statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning follow:

Big Forest Area Near Grove City Is Burned Over

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 21.—In one of the most spectacular and threatening fires in the history of the district, more than a thousand acres of northern Butler county farm land near this place was burned starting Monday, and the fire was still in progress today, but under control. Three hundred volunteers drafted from Slippery Rock, Harrisville, Branchton, Annandale, Hilliard and other places in northern Butler county fought the rapidly spreading brush and forest fire all night and had succeeded, it was announced this morning, in controlling the situation by means of the method known as "back fire" or burning off sections in the route of the oncoming fire. The volunteers were on duty for 10 hours.

Numerous farm houses, barns and other property in the section affected were threatened with destruction, but fortunately the flames were stopped before these places were reached with one exception.

The one big loss sustained was that of the burning of the Tony Hildebrand barn, which was filled with lumber. It and its contents were destroyed with an estimated

Vital Organs Of Girl Examined As Body Is Located

Body Of Miss Lucille Drew, 25, Recovered From Well At Bucyrus, Ohio

MYSTERY ATTENDS DEATH OF GIRL

(International News Service)

BUCYRUS, O., April 21.— Vital organs of Lucille Drew, 25, found dead in a well near here today were sent to the chemistry department, Ohio State University, in an attempt to shatter the mystery shrouding circumstances of her death.

The girl disappeared Saturday morning. Yesterday, her body was found under eighteen feet of water at the bottom of a well at the home of Frank Bair. Deputy Sheriff Charles Vollmer, who brought the body from the well with a long pole in which a nail had been driven said he had used the same pole to probe the well Sunday without result.

An autopsy conducted by Coroner J. G. Mannhardt revealed the young woman had not drowned. The lungs contained very little water. The mystery was further deepened when no marks of violence were found on the body.

Examining physicians said she had not been attacked.

Despondent Man Commits Suicide

Man Ties Stick Of Dynamite To Stomach And Sets Off Charge With Fuse

(International News Service)

BOSWELL, Pa., April 21.—Inviting his children to look on, Michael Zahsek, 45, of Acosta, near here, blew himself to death with a stick of dynamite.

Police today expressed the opinion that despondency over unemployment caused the man to take his life. Summoned by the victim's older son, who refused his father's invitation, they arrived too late to prevent the fatal act.

Zahsek strapped a stick of dynamite to his stomach and then set off the fatal charge by means of an electric fuse. He was blown to bits. His six-year old son, Joseph, who witnessed the tragedy, escaped unharmed.

Believe Revolt In Honduras Is Nearing Finish

Government Believes That Defeats Have Broken Back Of Revolt

INSURGENTS ARE REORGANIZING MEN

(International News Service)

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 21—Although the Honduran government believed that five defeats administered to insurgents by Federal troops broke the back of the North coast revolutionary movement, it was reported today that the rebels were reorganizing their forces for a double assault on the towns of Tela and Trujillo.

General Arturo Ordonez, with some 200 armed followers menaced the two important cities, according to late reports. The government dispatched 3,000 troops to the threatened area, hoping with that force definitely to stamp out the insurrection in the picturesque "Banana coast" region.

Evacuating Tela

American residents at Tela, headquarters of the United Fruit concern, number 333 at Trujillo there are another 247.

Advices received here said foreign women and children were evacuating Tela for Ceiba, where the U. S. S. Memphis arrived after a hasty trip from Nicaragua. Foreigners in Trujillo were reported boarding various fruit steamers anchored in the harbor.

Further protection will be furnished refugees and residents in Trujillo today when the U. S. S. Trenton or Marblehead, now enroute from Cuba, reaches that port.

PART OF TOWN IS BEING EVACUATED

Calls For Aid Are Sent To Coudersport And Other District Towns

By GRAYDON F. SMART
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANE, Pa., April 21.—Whipped by a brisk north wind, a forest fire ate its way steadily toward the little town of Clermont, 20 miles east of here this afternoon.

Shortly after noon, word came back from grimy, exhausted fire fighters that the flames were within a mile of Clermont. Hasty evacuation of homes on the southernmost fringe of Clermont was ordered.

Evacuate Town.

Resident of homes nearest the line of fire moved household goods into motortrucks, horsedrawn wagons and retreated before the on-rush of flame which threatened to engulf the town. All outlying residents were warned by courier to move northward.

More than 200 men, armed with gunny-sacks, brooms and nondescript weapons were pressed into service to fight the flames. Throughout the morning, the shifting winds sent the flames leaping northward, over trenches dug to halt their onrush.

The firefighters, professional and volunteer, retreated stubbornly, contesting every inch of ground with the flames.

Fears for the safety of Clermont were openly expressed. With only

Six Buildings In Two Towns Suffer Damage By Fires

Explosions And Fires Cause Damage At Carnegie And Canonsburg

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AROUND $100,000

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 21.—Two explosions each followed by fire, occuring in Carnegie, near here, and at Canonsburg, today resulted in the destruction of six buildings, damage to two others, serious burns to two men, and loss estimated by firemen at well over 100,000.

Four buildings were consumed by fire which followed a blast in the building occupied by Louis Maleni, near the plant of the Standard Tin Plate Company at Canonsburg. Maleni, and an unidentified man, were burned in the blast and fire and removed to the Canonsburg hospital.

The Maleni structure, a tire shop operated by John Manuel, a Dry Goods Store or Philip Abraham, and the Standard Restaurant building were destroyed by the blast. The Colassas building, at the rear of the Maleni structure, housing a Greek Coffee Shop, was seriously damaged by fire.

Grocery Store Damaged

The Grocery Store and residence of Jack Sylvester, near the Rosslyn Farms Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Carnegie, were destroyed by a blast and subsequent fire. A two story brick garage and residence in the rear were ignited by the flames which caused slight damage to dwellings on the opposite side of the street.

Fire Chief Orrian Baux estimated damage in the fires and blast at $25,000. John Clark, a negro, alone in his home above the garage, jumped from a second story window to the railroad tracks a short distance below. More than a score of negroes in adjoining dwellings, fled in night attire.

Mrs. Sylvester told police she could assign no reason for a possible bombing of the store. More than a score of windows in the district were shattered by the blast which rocked nearby buildings.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Show you what habit will do. Been flying every day till we could come to a capital of some republic, then would stay all night.

Well, was flying to New York from Florida today on the splendid new east coast air line. A great route from Jacksonville, with stops at Savannah, Charleston, Florence, Raleigh (where Uncle Josephus Daniels met me), Richmond. Saw many old friends all along.

Well, when I got to this town I saw a dome, so I figured it must be a capital, so I got off just through force of habit, and sure enough it was a capital, but you wouldn't think it from the ones I visited.

This is the quietest night I have spent. Managua, with its earthquake, has got it on this. Maybe I can show 'em how to start a revolution tomorrow.

SCHWARTZ BILL UP FOR READING

Amendments To Milk Delivery Measure Are To Be Made By Blue Law Foes

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Pennsylvania's legislature today gave the death blow to attempts to revise the "blue laws" of 1794.

By a vote of 101 to 99, the house today defeated an amendment offered by Rep. Clinton Sowers, Philadelphia, to the Schwartz bill, which would have legalized Sunday baseball between the hours of 2 p. m. and 5:30 p. m.

Defeat of the Sowers amendment sounded the death-knell for anti-blue law legislation so far as this session of the legislature is concerned.

HARRISBURG, April 21. — Opponents of Pennsylvania's Sunday "Blue Laws" massed for their last stand here today.

Final attempt of the present legislative session to drive an entering wedge into the old regulations for observance of the Sabbath was slated to start today in the House of Representatives, when the Schwartz bill comes up on second reading on a special order of business.

Amendment Battle

Seemingly innocuous was the bill, sponsored by Rep. Louis Schwartz, Philadelphia.

It aimed at amending the statute of 1794 to permit milk deliveries up to 10 a. m. But in the title of the bill, there was no limitation on the

MYSTERY SURROUNDS GIRL'S DEATH

International Illustrated News Telephoto

With both robbery and attack discounted as motives for the hanging of Miss Louise Teuber, 17, of San Diego, whose half-clad body was found dangling from a tree on Black Mountain, near the city, the authorities have been working on a revenge theory. They were inclined to believe that she might have been the victim of a band of infuriated women who had believed her guilty of a fancied "love pillage."

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 21.—Louise Teuber, 17-year old sales clerk, whose nearly nude body was found hanging from an oak tree Monday, put up a furious battle for life before a blow apparently from a blackjack ended her struggles, a coroner's examination disclosed today.

Beneath the strangled girl's finger nails several bits of human flesh and skin were revealed, according to the examination.

NEW YORK, April 21.—"Politics."

This, in a word, is Mayor James J. Walker's long-awaited reply to the charges of inefficiency, incompetence and negligence made against him by the city affairs committee, headed by the Rev. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who weeks ago formally demanded that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt remove the mayor from office.

The mayor's answer, a 15,000-word document which he compiled personally, was being studied by the governor at the executive mansion in Albany today. It is a detailed defense of the entire Walker administration and a compendium of its achievements. It emphatically and unreserved denies all the charges.

Has Done Duty

"I declare," wrote the mayor in summing up his defense, "that I have adequately and consistently done my full duty as mayor of the city of New York.

"I ask that these charges be dismissed."

Mayor Walker bitterly assailed the Rev. Mr. Holmes and Rabbi Wise as

SITE AGENT WILL INSPECT OFFERINGS

May Take Thirty Days To Inspect Tracts Before Decision

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Offers of sites for the New Castle new post office were opened by treasury department officials today, and, while the prices asked and the parcels offered were made public, the department refused to make any comments, stating that a site agent would be in New Castle within the next thirty days to inspect all the tracts offered and to report back his findings to the joint building committee of the Treasury and Post Office Departments.

It will be upon the basis of this report that the committee will ultimately select a site for the new federal building.

Fourteen Sites

The site bids opened by the Treasury Department today numbered fourteen but because some were upon tracts sufficiently large enough for a site while others covered only small parcels of land it was difficult to get any definite impression of the real prices. This will be one of the matters studied by the agent when he visits New Castle. He will base his survey upon the fact that the department wants a New Castle site 47,500 square feet in area with a linal frontage of 220 feet.

No Set Date For Temperance Day

Pennsylvania Has No Law Providing Certain Day For Temperance Observance

NO REQUIREMENTS FOR TEACHERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Although Pennsylvania is included among the 46 states throughout the country having statutes requiring public schools to teach the effects of alcohol and other narcotics on the human system, the state has no law providing that any certain day be set aside as Temperance Day, or regarding teachers who have not passed a special examination in hygiene, including the effects of alcohol and other narcotics on health and character, according to Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, in a report on alcohol, hygiene and the public schools.

It was pointed out that Pennsylvania was one of the early States to enact statutes making specific reference to instruction of the effect of alcoholic liquors upon the human system. On April 2, 1885, a law was passed in Pennsylvania requiring that the effects of alcoholic drinks and stimulants be taught in the public schools, but this was revised in similar legislation which became effective in 1911.

In thirteen states throughout the country there are laws which provide that a certain period in one day of each year be set aside as Temperance Day. In some states no certificates to teach are given to any persons who have not passed a special examination in hygiene, including the effect of alcohol and other narcotics on health and character. There are no laws of this nature in effect in Pennsylvania, according to the report of the Prohibition Director.

Stockholders Of U. S. Steel Adopt 70-Year-Old Retirement Plan

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 21.—A. P. Banks, president of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad, owned by the United States Steel corporation, probably will be the first head of a subsidiary to retire under the company's revised pension plan.

The new plan, providing for compulsory retirement at the age of 70, was adopted by stockholders at a meeting here yesterday. Banks, who has been with the railroad 37 years, was scheduled to retire about May 1.

Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee, and James A. Farrell, president of the corporation, predicted speedy return to prosperity and said they entertained no doubt as to the future of American business.

"If we can get a little better tonnage on present prices, we are going to have a reasonably good year," said Farrell.

The two rival boat clubs were getting ready for the annual races. And the towns for miles roundabout were in a fever of excitement. Jerry Squibb, who lived on one of the lots leading to the waterfront where the racing boats would have to pass, saw the possibility of making a few much-needed dollars. He blocked up the roadway and made a charge for those who wished to pass by in order to see the races. On the afternoon of the races Steve Jackson took his wife and children in the family flivver and started down the road to see the races. He drove along the road until suddenly he came to the barriers, where he found a couple of men ready to collect a fee before letting him drive on.

Steve observed the situation for a moment and decided it was a misuse of public property, and forced his way past the hired hands into the inclosure. But here he was confronted by a policeman, who told Steve he could go no further and, while not laying hands on him, told Steve he would have to stay just where he was or go back the same way he came. Steve decided to go back and sue the policeman for false imprisonment.

Application Made For Bus Permit By New Castle Owner

William W. Smeal, Applies For Permit To Operate Enon Valley-New Castle Line

ENON VALLEY MEN FAVOR PROPOSAL

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 21.—William W. Smeal of 201 South Ashland street, New Castle, today applied before the public service commission here for permission to take over and operate the bus line previously operated by James Quinn between Enon Valley and New Castle.

Smeal testified before Examiner W. E. Best of the commission that he had been operating the Quinn line since last December. An agreement has been drawn up between the two operators for the purchase of Quinn's equipment by Smeal in the event that the commission grants the certificate to the latter.

The applicant at present operates a bus line between New Castle and Mt. Jackson to the southwest. He testified that he would provide the necessary equipment to accommodate all passengers on the new route to Enon Valley.

Burgess Testifies

N. E. Avery, merchant and councilman at Enon Valley, testified that the bus line between there and New Castle was necessary for the convenience of the public. He told the commission that the only other route between the two points was by way of the Pennsylvania railroad with an intervening stop at Beaver Falls.

J. O. Fisher, burgess at Enon Valley, gave like testimony. He told the commission of the Amish settlement of 17 families near Enon Valley which the bus line would service. These residents, because of their religious tenets, do not favor the private ownership of automobiles, but rely on buses for transportation to and from New Castle.

The burgess said members of the Amish settlement near Mt. Jackson frequently used the Quinn bus line to market their farm products at New Castle and visit with other members of an Amish settlement near New Wilmington.

Call For Aid.

District Forester H. E. Elliott rushed calls for aid—men and fire-fighting equipment—to Coudersport. Truckloads of equipment were reported enroute this afternoon.

More than 3,000 acres of timberland already has been burned over. Most of the timber was second growth, and included a half million young trees planted by the state.

Four gas wells, property of the United Natural Gas Company, fell prey to the advance of the fire.

Elliott was conducting his fight against the flames with all the cool strategy of a war-lord. When it became apparent that the crisis of the battle would develop sometime this afternoon, the forester withdrew 150 of his men, had food served to them and ordered them to rest until sent back into the line this afternoon.

This detachment had been fighting the flames for 36 hours without cessation.

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

At the first appearance of the new moon the sunrise on the moon produces a semi-circle of light we call a crescent. The line where the light ends and the dark begins is called the terminator. The reason the terminator line becomes a semi-ellipse (a half oval) is because we are looking at a half circle obliquely. At quarter moon the line becomes straight. As the sun rises upon more than half the moon's face, the terminator becomes a semi-ellipse again, only our oblique view is the opposite of what it was at new moon, producing what is known as gibbous moon. The moon is gibbous after first quarter and before third quarter.

HOUSE APPROVES OLD AGE PENSION

permit old age pensions and soldiers' bonus. The measure had already been passed by the Senate and must now be voted upon by the next legislature and if approved then, submitted to a state-wide referendum.

Road Bills Approved

The Wheeler road bills, carrying appropriations of $30,500,000 also were approved by the House, setting aside eighteen million dollars for improvement of the existent highway system and the remaining 3,000 miles of the road system established in 1911. The bills also appropriate $6,500,000 for improvement of the rural roads specified in the administration township road bill and make appropriations for township rewards and street improvements.

Still another road bill approved in the lower chamber was the Sheffer Bill providing for taking over all state-aid highways by the commonwealth when constructed or improved.

Other Measures

While the House acted on these measures, the Senate sent the administration township road bill to second reading, from where it will be sent back to committee for amendment.

The Senate procedure on the measure will permit action on the bill in the closing days of the session should that course seem necessary. Although it passed the House unopposed, there have been evidences of opposition in the Senate, and considerable amending may be done in the upper chamber.

Meantime, new measures continued to pour into the House as the deadline for presentation of bills loomed tomorrow.

Among the new measures were two by Reps. Root, Philadelphia, and Heffran, Washington, fixing membership of the House at 209; two bills by Rep. Reed, Dauphin, reducing drivers' licenses fees from $2 to $1 and minimum fee for motor licenses from $10 to $5.

Rep. Sterling, Philadelphia, presented a bill increasing from two to five million dollars the borrowing capacity of Philadelphia for this year. The measure is an emergency one, designed to take the place of a bill which passed the House previously but was recalled from the governor.

Changes in the administrative code are contemplated under a bill by Rep. Wilson, McKean, providing among other things for removal of the State Aeronautics Commission from the Department of Internal Affairs to the Department of Forests and Waters and reducing its personnel from seven to five. The measure also provides for a fair rate board and for placing of a contemplated state bridge commission in the Department of Highways.

CONDIGN PUNISHMENT

BERLIN, April 21.—Pedestrians who received a mud bath when a chauffeur drove his truck through a puddle of water next to the curbstone in a Berlin street filed a complaint, and the chauffeur was summoned to court. The evidence showed that he had plenty of room to turn out and avoid the puddle, and the court imposed a fine of three marks on him. Similar decisions have been rendered also in Bavarian courts.

SUNDAY BLUE LAW OPPONENTS MAKING FINAL STAND TODAY

section of the original statute intended for amendment—the preamble merely stated the bill was to amend the statute of 1794.

Proponents of liberalizing legislation saw in the measure a new battle-front for anti-blue law bills which had been "pickled" earlier in the session by the law and order committee.

The Schwartz bill was reported out of committee and up for first reading without getting over-much attention. Then the anti-blue law bloc disclosed its plans.

Amendments would be offered to the Schwartz bill, it was announced, to legalize Sunday sports and amusements. Inasmuch as the bill may amend any or all sections of the old act, the anti-blue law bloc had drawn a "natural" for their new campaign. They defeated attempts to recommit the measure and had it set as a special order of business.

Sunday Baseball

Today, it was indicated that all efforts of the liberal bloc would center on gaining adoption of an amendment to the bill legalizing Sunday baseball. While there was a possibility that other amendments would be offered to make legal Sunday movies and theatres, Sunday baseball was the issue on which the anti-blue law group elected to stand or fall.

The battle to include legalization of Sunday baseball under terms of the Schwartz bill was expected to be led by Representatives Sowers, Philadelphia, and Musmanno, Pittsburgh, with support from their respective delegations. Both Sowers and Musmanno had previously introduced liberalizing legislation which went down to defeat in the law and order committee before the legislation reached the floor.

The fight against inclusion of anti-blue law amendments in the Schwartz bill, it was indicated, would be led by Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington. Pinchot floor-leader, and Samuel G. Hartsock, Blair.

Should the liberal group succeed in fastening a Sunday baseball amendment to the bill, it was considered probable attempts would be made to adopt other amendments legalizing various other amusements and sports.

Will Be Doomed

Should attempts to include the baseball amendment, or any others of its sort, be defeated, legislation designed to change the nature of Sabbath observance will be doomed so far as this legislature is concerned.

Both opponents and proponents of the present laws girded for the contest. And while there were few definite predictions, general impression was that the existent laws on Sabbath observance would not be changed, although sponsors of liberalizing legislation were sanguine as to the outcome of their last efforts.

GOVERNOR STUDIES WALKER'S ANSWER TO GRAVE CHARGES

"socialists" with political axes to grind.

"The accusations are signed by Holmes and Wise as individuals," said Mayor Walker. "To lend dignity to the charges which their names would not carry they describe themselves as chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the 'City Affairs Committee.'

"The 'City Affairs Committee' is nothing more than an annex of the socialist party, masquerading under a name ingeniously contrived to deceive the public. The aim is to gain prestige which might advance the political fortunes of a group that has been repudiated repeatedly and decisively by the electorate. Holmes and Wise are both enrolled socialists. Holmes was the campaign chairman of the socialist candidate for mayor in 1929."

Active Socialists

The mayor declared that other members of the City Affairs Committe were also active socialists. He described one as "a chronic office seeker." He told the governor that "the individual who signs himself as chairman on the charges sent to you has been for years a recognized leader in a group of agitators and soviet sympathizers."

Governor Roosevelt had no comment on Walker's reply. Asked if he would take action before he leaves for Warm Springs, Ga., on May 1, he replied that he "couldn't say." He refused to say whether he would grant the request made several days ago by the City Affairs Committee to file rebuttal with him against the mayor's answer.

It was generally believed at the Capitol that the governor will act in the matter before he goes south and the concensus was that he will dismiss the charges against the mayor.

loss of $5,000. The total loss sustained is estimated at possibly $15,000, including several stands of good timber located in the fire area.

Windy Mine and the miners' homes were threatened, but were saved. The fire-fighters were directed by fire wardens from Slippery Rock and Harrisville.

The area devastated by the fire reaches from Hilliard branch of the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad to Atwell's crossing.

Numerous brush fires have been reported in the Slippery Rock district in the past day and on several occasions volunteers have been called out to put them out. The situation is quite critical due to the dry condition of the brush and timber and the lack of rain.

IT IS NIP AND TUCK IN THE HOUSE

SERIOUS thought among leaders, both Republicans and Democratic, has followed the untimely passing of Nicholas Longworth. The Cincinnati district which has been so faithful to the late Speaker of the House of Representatives is regarded as distinctly uncertain. To save it from Democratic control the suggestion had been made that Mrs. Longworth should be invited to contest it, but the idea died almost as soon as it was born. She made it known that she would not enter politics. Since the choice of a Democrat, if death does not again disturb the alignment, would give each party an equal number of members, with one representative, the Farmer-Labor member from Minnesota, holding the actual balance of power, the importance of the result in this single Cincinnati district is obvious.

As the day approaches for the assembling of the new congress, there will be much heavy thinking. Should the Republicans succeed in choosing a speaker and naming the committees, which could be done only with the full co-operation of the handful of Insurgents, they would be technically responsible for legislation. Likewise the Democrats would be blamed for what might happen should they seize the reins of authority. The conditions are such as to threaten to create trouble for either party.

It may be taken for granted in the circumstances that the winter session of congress will be devoted almost exclusively to politics in preparation for the presidential campaign, asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer. The few Insurgents in the house, heretofore swallowed up by the Republican majority, will become as important as their tribe has been in the senate. To an Insurgent, party lines mean just nothing at all. He wears the badge of Republican regularity only on election day. He lays it away in moth balls immediately after the returns are in and never brings it out and dusts if off until another election is on. No matter which side wins the speakership, it is bound to assume responsibilities which will inevitably be assailed by the other party.

Presently we are fairly certain to hear Republican leaders asking, "Is it worth while?" And the same question is as certain to issue from Democratic spokesmen. Perhaps the Republican party would be just as well off—better off—if it allowed the Democrats to take possession. And perhaps, too, the Democrats will conclude that they might be in a securer position if they made no serious effort to organize the house. It is the party in power that has to take the blows every time. It is much easier to throw bombs than to avoid them.

All that may be said at this time with assurance is that the house organization is up in the air and that anything may happen. But, for that matter, the senate is in no better situation.

KINGS' THOUGHTS

Wouldn't it be interesting to know what the 12 remaining major monarchs thought about as they received word of the dignified but probably permanent departure of Alfonso from the throne of Spain? Some of them may have envied him his new freedom from duties of state, particularly that one of being a perpetual sideshow for the populace. Some of them may have shivered a little at their own uncertain prospects.

Ras Tafari and other oriental kings and emperors are beyond our speculation. Their ways of thinking are too different from ours for us to guess at what's on their minds. Plots and counterplots, according to our occidental notions of oriental ways, are part of their daily routine.

It is different with the European monarchs. George V of England, Albert of Belgium, the Scandinavian kings, are all men of considerable patriotism and sense of responsibility toward their people. Do they look complacently at the steady forward march of self-government? It is impossible to guess. Some of them may feel that an enlightened and benevolent monarchy is better than any government the people can set up for themselves.

And how about the Prince of Wales? Did the Spanish revolution give him a sudden hope that some day he might become an inconspicuous, happy, private citizen?

INDUSTRY'S JOB

Unemployment insurance, old-age pensions, benefits of this, that and the other kind have been chewed over this year in the legislatures of nearly all the states. The governors of the eastern industrial states met to discuss the problem of unemployment insurance, and in Ohio the general assembly has resolved to form a committee to study that problem. Nationally the congress fumbled tentatively with forms of drought relief that were different only in name from Britain's disastrous dole. From everywhere, during this period of depression, the cry has come for government pap to sustain the people.

Unfortunately, as declared by C. L. Parry to National Metal Trades Secretaries in Cincinnati, unless industry awakens to a threatening possibility and organizes itself to solve the problems of unemployment, of old age dependency, the job will be done by the politicians. And it will be done politically, with the shedding of oratorical tears and the corner of an eye on the votes. Senator Watson declared that no pension bill ever failed to pass the national congress; if the federal government, or smaller units, go into the wholesale pension business the result may be foreseen.

Industry can forestall this undesirable development of paternalism, which already is bad enough. Industry can make sure that these various forms of relief, which the current business crisis have made inevitable, are built up and administered by people who know the needs of industry and not by state and national spellbinders, professional jobholders and costly bureaus.

American industry has a stewardship that it must fulfill. If it fails to do so in the next few years the cry for governmental aid to all and sundry will overcome the resistance of good sense, and we may repeat on a larger scale the industrial bankruptcy of other nations that have become too free with the money of their working subjects.

Industrial leaders should listen to Mr. Parry when he says they must choose a relief system built by themselves and efficiently administered, or they will have forced upon them a state paternalism that is "simply a subsidy for inertia."—The Cincinnati Enquirer.

I Have a Frank Friend
He Doesn't Flatter
I wouldn't Trade Him

By MARSHALL MASLIN

My friend is frank. He says what he thinks.

He comes into my office and says: "That thing you wrote yesterday wasn't very good. It didn't get over with me. I'm afraid you wrote it in too much of a hurry. The ending was weak."

That's how my friend talks to me. I know that I'll get the facts from him, without any twisting and turning and preparatory compliments. He gives me his opinion without embarrassment.

Sometimes I wince at his frankness. It's like stepping out of doors into the face of a cold blast that blows from the pole. I defend myself and abuse him, and in my weak moments I wish he wouldn't be so honest. I argue with him.

But the next moment I'm glad I have a friend like him. His frankness is a compliment. He assumes that I can stand the truth about things, that I want to know that truth, and that I expect him to let me know exactly what he thinks. I must try to live up to that belief of his.

Another thing, too. He knows that I know that his frankness isn't all on the mean side of life. He likes people. He has faith in life. He longs for perfection. His faith in the unseen is far greater than mine. He is an honest friend. And that honesty of his extends to the things he likes. Sometimes he has praised me, and I am grateful for that. When he tells me he likes something, I know that he means it. He is not saying a pleasant thing just to be agreeable. He says it because he has felt it, and wants me to know that this is so. He may be mistaken, but it is his opinion.

So I trust my friend, and I feel that his friendship will endure—even though I prove unworthy of it. He'd go with me, I'm sure, to the gate of a prison and visit me there in my meager cell. I have more faith in him than I have in myself. He is my friend, and so often we are not our own friends.

I know, of course, that he is my friend because of those rare qualities that are in himself—not for what is in me. He does not ask me to change and be like him; he asks only that I should be myself and no one else. So he makes stern demands on me and reproves me when I am weak and careless and unfair.

And when I think of him, I can imagine no other kind of Friendship.

JANET'S VALUE

How much do I think of you? Well, I don't know
How to tell you precisely, but let us suppose
That a fairy should hop from the bud of a rose
And waving her wand, saying: "Presto! Behold!
Here is a mountain of silver and gold!
It's all yours if you'll just let your little girl go!"
I'd shout: "I'll not trade you the tip of her nose!"

Then if she should show me a castle complete,
All furnished and ready and fit for a king
With servants my dinners on salvers to bring,
And say: "You may live here your whole life long through,
But give me that Janet the Lord gave to you,
I'd let mine be her kisses so tender and sweet."
I'd say: "Don't be silly! I'll do no such thing!"

How much do I love you? Well, that I can't say,
But for all that a fairy could conjure up here,
Great ships on the ocean; the tall buildings near,
The gold in the banks; all the lands you can see
And to be just as rich as I've wanted to be,
For all you can think of or dream of today
You can always be sure I'd not trade you, my dear.

STRAIGHT THINKING

Do you know what "straight thinking" means?

When your opinion is asked are you unbiased in your reply?

Can you excuse yourself from certain duties that normally fall upon a person in your position or can you find an excuse for putting the duty up to some other member of the family?

Are you able to think straight and in an unprejudiced manner?

Are you able to come to a straight conclusion based upon facts even when it involves your own discomfort?

The line between duty to self or the other fellow is a fine one.

If outside duty unfits you for your real duty to the home folks, you ought to be able to think straight enough to see where your duty lies.

There are some overly sensitive, conscientious persons who cannot be trusted to look out for their own health.

Their ambition is greater than their strength.

They should practice straight thinking, and realize to whom and for whom it is their responsibility to keep as well physically and nervously as possible.

Besides my husband tells me that wearing suspenders, which I suppose you do, is harder on the constitution than paint or powder."

"Yes, little one," I humbly murmured, "I plead guilty to wearing suspenders, but they arent worn for my health's sake."

FORGETTING

If you see a tall fellow ahead of the crowd,
A leader of men, marching fearless and proud,
And you know of a tale whose mere telling aloud
Would cause his proud head in anguish be bowed.
'Tis a pretty good plan to forget it.

If you know of a skeleton hidden away
In a closet, and guarded and kept from the day
In the dark, and whose showing, whose sudden display
Would cause grief and sorrow and lifelong dismay.
'Tis a pretty good plan to forget it.

If you know a thing that will darken the joy
Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy,
That will wipe out the smile or the least way annoy

'Tis a pretty good plan to forget it.

The minute you start bein' nice to 'em, they lay down on you and begin to talk impudent." That is quite true of course, but the truth of it isn't confined to Negroes. It is equally due to Japs—and white people. The Japanese are very polite by nature and training, and when they first began to multiply on the Pacific Coast they seemed to regard white people as creatures infinitely superior. It didn't last, however, for the flattered whites made pets of the little Orientals and spoiled them. Within a generation they were so cocky and impudent that everybody felt an urge to kick them in the pants. This doesn't refer to the well-born Japanese, of course, for the well-born remain courteous and humble no matter how well they are treated. Longworth, Man Of Wealth; Lauded As Servant Of Public

Son-In-Law Of Roosevelt Appraised As One Who Made Independent Place For Himself In Public Affairs And Combined Fairness With Party Loyalty

The sudden death of Speaker Nicholas Longworth is followed by spontaneous tributes to his unusual public career. Emphasis is placed upon the fact that he was a man of wealth who succeeded in winning political success through personal qualities, and that though the son-in-law of President Roosevelt, was able to leave the imprint of his own personality on his political generation.

"One of his characteristics was loyalty," declares the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR. "He was loyal to his friends, to his party and to his leaders. It was this loyalty to party which kept him 'regular' in 1912 when his famous father-in-law, the late President Theodore Roosevelt, headed the Bull Moose party in opposition to the Republican candidate for President, the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft. In that congressional election Mr. Longworth was defeated, making a break in his long service as a member of the House. Two years later, however, he was re-elected and continued a member of the House until his death."

The incident of the campaign of 1912 is emphasized also by the DETROIT FREE PRESS, with the statement that "the honors that came to him as floor leader and Speaker of the House were earned." The INDIANAPOLIS STAR avers that "he had the courage of his conviction and was a constructive force in the affairs of the nation, much in need of public men of his capacity and stamina."

"Whence the power of Nicholas Longworth as a political leader and parliamentarian, and whence his charm as a man?" asks the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR, adding in comment on the subject: "The question is on all lips, and the answers are as varied as his own qualities, his forcefulness in legislation, his candor in controversy, his instincts of comradeship, before which party lines faded. The paradox of his political efficiency and easy suavity of outlook is perhaps explained when it is noted that by birth and choice he was an exponent of the humanities. Cincinnati sets high store by them, and has given them a preferred place in the curriculum of its University. Speaker Longworth had a heritage of wealth and social position; he was university-bred; his culture was broadly based, and in the art of music his was the hand of a master."

"He will be remembered for a long time by those who knew him, as a faithful office holder, a force for good fellow," declares the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, while the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR proclaims that "Ohio has every reason to take pride in his record," and the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM describes him as "a credit to American politics and to the American background." The SEATTLE DAILY TIMES pays the tribute: "In the course of a career that has been too soon and too abruptly closed Mr. Longworth set a fine example for the young men of America. He did not merely play politics, as so many are willing to do, but worked intelligently and wholeheartedly for the better service of the people. His high ideals, his fairness, his capacity for friendliness, were not the attributes of politics posturing, but were recognized by all as evidences of a perfect sincerity."

"Too few have appeared on the American scene who have risen from wealth and position at birth to high place in National affairs," thinks the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, while the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH points out that "he was a big man in his own right," and held the office of Speaker "with honor to himself and satisfaction to his party and the country." The ROCK ISLAND ARGUS feels that "Perhaps the greatest triumph he achieved was to make it clear that he could attain to a prominent and highly influential post aside from the accident of birth and his marriage to the daughter of a great President," and the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD contends that "it is a good thing to have it demonstrated that in our great democracy there is a congenial place in the political arena for the aristocrat."

"He was an exemplary man," says the PASADENA STAR-NEWS, "buckling down to the hard work of exacting public service. His distinguished father-in-law, the lamented Colonel Roosevelt, also was a conspicuous example of a man having abundant means who consecrated his life to public service. Genial, warm-hearted likable, Nicholas Longworth was personally popular with men of all political faiths. His sudden passing has grieved the Nation."

"The course of government will be changed by his death," in the judgment of the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL. "Just what the political significance will be is difficult to determine. With the exception of the president the speaker of the national House of Representatives is the most powerful man in the nation, and Speaker Longworth wielded that power with an urbanity and an effectiveness that made him, perhaps feared, but certainly respected by his colleagues. In his passing, the world, the nation and Ohio suffer a loss. His legacy is a station in life for whoever can get it."

Speaker Longworth's personal charm and popularity are attested by the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, the CHATTANOOGA TIMES, the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE the NEW YORK SUN the WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE NEWS, the BALTIMORE SUN, the CHARLESTON (S. C.) NEWS AND COURIER, the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER and the WHEELING INTELLIGENCER. The MADISON WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL holds that "there are few men in the country equally equipped for the Speakership." The BIRMINGHAM NEWS states that "in all his political dealings he was the same gracious, polished, gentlemanly 'Nick' Longworth that he was to his friends." The ATLANTA JOURNAL suggests that in him "good humor attained the potency and the charm of a fine art." The PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN records that "he unique qualifications to mediate between sections and elements of diverse background, to diminish antagonism and soften the asperities of controversy."

"His conservative judgment, fairness, experience and industry had earned him through the years of his service the respect of his colleagues in both parties," testifies the CHICAGO TRIBUNE, while the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL explains as to his success in the office of Speaker: "In this position he fitted admirably into the succession of 'czardom' which by an application of hard rules had held the independence of the house in leash for near two generations of American government. First Reed, then Cannon, then Longworth. But if the dominion of Reed and Cannon was imposed with no apology for the frank usurpation that it really meant, that of Longworth wore the face of finesse and benevolence. These were the qualities which in the progressive revolutions of our national politics saved him from being overborne by insurgent strength. Nick indeed was too good a fellow to be deposed."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOT ALL RACKETEERS

The jaundiced and cynical pessimist, who croaks about the degeneracy of mankind, who is everlastingly lifting up his voice in lamentation over the passing of the good old days; should read a recent interview with that stalwart Old Roman, Elihu Root.

Here is a man, eighty-seven years young, who has had unusual opportunities for observing the change in thought, manners and custom and after a pilgrimage of almost a century he concludes:

"We are moving towards better things. Men's conceptions of their relations to one another has improved. This is a slow process—in my life time I have seen evidence of it. Men have become less cruel. Compassion for animals has grown. Today the man who is cruel to animals is considered a brute. Cruelty, oppression, immorality and corruption condoned in the past would not be tolerated today. It is this growth of compassion I would say was the greatest change that has occurred in my lifetime."

NEW YORK, April 21.—Municipal ferryboats carry three musicians each—the term "musician" being employed in its broadest sense.

After several "musical" selections on a trip the hat is passed and music lovers among the passengers, grateful that the dissonant performance is at an end, bestow nickels and dimes—the size of the contribution being a measure of the music-lover's relief.

The city awards this concession each year to the highest bidder. The other day an Italian, whose first name is Tony—and whose other name I can't recall—secured a two-year concession by bidding $20,950.

A bootblack baron, at the same session, secured the pedal-polishing concession on the Staten Island ferryboats on a bid of $29,975 for one year.

MIGHTY ATOMS

The average American, contemptuous of pennies, nickels and dimes, tosses them away with a breezy nonchalance, very gratifying to the newly made citizen from southern Europe.

"Tony" garners these stray coins that come his way, hangs on to them, from time to time shrewdly invests his little hoard, and at the end of 20 years some newspaper reporter, born with a contempt for "small change", sits down and writes what is called a "successful story," telling about "Mr. Antonio", the millionaire realtor, "who landed here two decades ago with two dollars in his pocket and a wild desire to succeed."

Success in acquiring riches depends on attention to tiresome details; and most people despise tiresome details.

CHERCHEZ LA FEMME

Now the buds begin to swell, the blades of grass begin to shoot and the Coney Island concessionaire staggers forth from his winter cave, hauls out the hot dawg griddle, oils up the roller coaster and waits for the first balmy Sunday—and the girls.

"It's the girls we depend on," said the Old Time Concessionaire. "They're the ones who go in for an all around good time. They're the first ones here in the spring time and they're the last to leave when the fall rolls 'round.

"The men are afraid of losing their dignity. But the girls—Lord love 'em—when they come down to Coney, leave their dignity home. And when I speak of girls I mean all flappers, from six to 60. We always plan the slides and the rides to get the girls."

POOR BUT HAPPY

The Old Concessionaire says he looks for the biggest season in years.

"The old Hard Times jinx is over," he says, "and folks are looking forward to this summer, happier and more content than they've been in years. Some of 'em may not have as much dough as they had three years ago; but after wha' they've been through, they'll get more of a kick out of what they spend.

"Maybe my words are twisted; but come down here three months from now and give the crowds the once over—and you'll understand what I'm driving at."

EPISTOLARY POEM

Roark Bradford, the New Orleans newspaper man whose book "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun", furnished the background for Marc Connolly's Pulitzer prize play "Green Pastures", saw the show for the first time last week. It's only been two years on Broadway.

After the performance he sent the following letter to the cast:

"I am still trying to think up a way with which to tell you how much I enjoyed the show Saturday night, how much I appreciated the greeting from you, back stage, how proud I am to be connected in any way with such a magnificent group of people. . . . . Of course I shall never be able to do so. I am merely a word-merchant and words are terribly weak when one wants them to be strong. I hope you will understand.

"Perhaps when I get back home, among less strenuous surroundings and closer to the river and the birds and crickets and the frogs, I shall take my guitar and lie down in the shade of a certain friendly live-oak tree that I know about, where I can sing a little pop-out about how it all was. Of course you will never hear the song but I have a feeling that the illusion of Celestial Omnipotence which you so beautifully create upon the stage will reach all the way to Louisiana and gather in the foolish little song. Then you will understand how it is when a man's best words are not good enough."

Divorce, however, is just a symptom. The evil is done when that kind of people are allowed to marry.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Civil War days in New Castle, between 1861 and 1865, were busy days in New Castle and Lawrence county. The canal was the only means of transportation of the Boys In Blue to the battle front, except the dirt roads of those days.

New Castle and Little Lawrence furnished as large if not a larger percentage of its male population for the Union Armies during those strenuous times as any other community in the country and as a result New Castle, which was the center for the county in the matter of raising troops.

This necessitated the procuring of means of transportation to Darlington, the nearest railroad station or sending the recruits away on the canal boats. Both means were used.

C. L. Reynolds of the Sherman House, has a distinct recollection of some of these happenings, being a small boy at the time, but like all small boys interested in exciting incidents of his home community.

He remembers of considerable numbers of the recruits for the Union Armies being transported by wagon to Darlington, where they embarked on trains for points nearer the scene of the conflict.

He also has a distinct recollection of the many groups of civil war boys, who went by canal boat. They were loaded on canal boats at the Kissick Wharf on the Neshannock Creek. The wharf was located at the foot of Apple Alley and proceeded from there to Pittsburgh and other main transportation points.

One of the stirring memories of those times, that he has, is that concerning a fourteen year old boy, who had a fife and was playing stirring martial music on the boat as the soldiers were loading. The efforts of the boy resulted in resounding cheers from the soldiers and the hundreds of interested spectators.

Fourteen Road Projects Will Be Started Soon

State To Open Bids For Construction Of 73 Miles Of Highway

FEDERAL ROAD AID FUNDS TO BE USED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Bids will be opened by the state highway department, Secretary of Highways Sam S. Lewis announced here today, April 30 and May 1 for fourteen projects, aggregating 73.32 miles of new construction. The letting will be the fourth of the current construction season.

"Emergency federal aid funds, amounting to $3,500,000 and $3,500,000 of the regular federal aid will be obligated with the award of projects in this letting if all low bidders qualify," said Lewis. "Nearly 250 miles of construction will be involved and all must be completed before Sept. 1 of this year."

Difficulty of preparing to contract for the construction was outlined by the highway head.

"It was necessary," said he, "in order to meet the time limitation set by the federal government, that survey parties be sent to work through storms, snow drifts and freezing weather; draftsmen worked on double shifts. The entire engineering staff of the department met in many night conferences to check the plans.

"The federal government stipulated that all emergency funds allocated must be utilized and the work completed on schedule. To insure timely completion the department has established rigid requirements, setting forth the minimum amount of equipment a contractor must show before he is eligible to bid. Successful bidders must be ready to begin work immediately."

Among the projects included are the following in this vicinity:

Beaver county—South Beaver township, 6.35 miles of paving and bridges on Route 640.

Venango county—Cranberry and President townships, 4.84 miles paving and bridges on Route 750.

SAYS SILK HOSE CAUSE GIRLS' FALL

Mrs. Fay Ehlert

Mrs. Fay Ehlert, wife of the Chilean consul in Chicago, and winner of the Edith Rockefeller McCormick Drama league prize for her play, "The Undercurrent," declares that "silk stockings have become the fetish of the twentieth century miss almost to the point where her desire for such finery is threatening the nation with moral disaster. Girls subject themselves to many dangers and do without necessary clothes and food to achieve, on insufficient salaries, the false ideal of the silk goddess," says Mrs. Ehlert.

Life In India Is Described By Betty Campbell

Senior High Girl Reserves Hear Fellow Member Tell Of Her Life In Orient

Tales of northern India, as told by a young lady who has spent all her life there, with the exception of the past year, were heard by a crowd of intensely interesting Senior high school Girl Reserves Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A.

Betty Campbell, daughter of missionaries working in interior India, who came to United States for the first time in her life less than a year ago, was the speaker and her descriptions of India, the country and the people was of deep interest.

Betty is a student of the local Senior high school and a member of the Girl Reserve club. Educated in English schools in India, Betty speaks this language perfectly, with a slight British accent. She has a way of her own to describe experiences in India, and every minute of her address last evening was interesting.

She told of the strange ceremonials, the beliefs of the Indian people, their customs, modes of living, etc.

Supplementing the address, a beautiful violin solo was rendered by Michael Caruso—"The Song of India."

Miss Betty Carson had charge of devotionals.

Epworth Church Crowded To Doors

Filled To Overflowing Last Night As Jubilee Singers Give Program

Epworth M. E. church was filled to overflowing last night and many were turned away. It was the opening night of the Spiritual Jubilee Singers, brought to New Castle by the Dibble party. The whole evening was devoted to music and these talented singers delighted their audience with their interpretation of the old spirituals of the slave days. They do not attempt to sing the songs of the white man, but confine themselves to the negro spirituals, the only original American music, with the possible exception of the Indian music.

The singers are all people of fine personality, education and high-class in appearance. They are lyceum artists who have devoted a good bit of their time lately to Christian work. Two men and three women make up the aggregation, forming a fine balance to their work. Their singing of that fine old spiritual, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", was especially worthy of the plaudits of the best musical critic. All of these people are featured in solo numbers also.

They will be at the Epworth church all this week in connection with the Dibble party, who are going into their second week here. Mrs. Dibble will bring a message this evening and the Jubilee Singers will sing. Meetings every night this week at 7:30. From the size of the crowd last night it will behoove one to be early in coming.

Plan Early Start For Divorce Court

Attorneys who have cases to be heard at divorce court Friday will have to be on the job early as Judge R. L. Hildebrand has announced that divorce court will open at 8 a. m. Progress In Anesthesia Is Constant

Safety, Comfort Of Surgery Aided By Discoveries

By LOGAN CLENDENNING, M. D.

Medical science progresses not only by making new discoveries, but also by improving old methods. The constant and regular improvement in the safety and comfort of anesthesia for surgical and obstetric purposes is an example.

When ether anesthesia broke on the wholly unexpectant surgical world from the cupola-domed room in the Massachusetts General hospital nearly a century ago, it seemed a magical advance. Before that time only a few sugical maneuvers could be attempted at all—amputation and such vitally necessary operations. The patient was made as drunk as was safe with brandy and then four or five hospital orderlies held him down while the grim necessity was got through. "Surgeons operating on the quick," wrote a physician of the last generation, describing his medical student days, "were pitted against each other like runners on time. He was the best surgeon, both for patient and onlooker, who broke the three-minute record for amputation."

For sixty years it was thought no improvement could be made over the administration of straight ether. And yet that, too, was an almost barbarous spectacle. "When I began giving ether in 1892," writes a surgeon of our time, "we used a cone made of newspaper and a towel pinned together with safety pins, one end of the cone being closed and stuffed with cotton, into which the ether (not too pure) was poured. We then jammed this cone over the patient's face, everyone lent a hand in holding him down, and he was practically suffocated into unconsciousness."

About 25 years ago the use of nitrous oxide as a preliminary to ether was begun. Nitrous oxide is the chemical name of our old dental friend laughing gas. The patient goes to sleep pleasantly and comfortably in this way, the switch to ether being made after complete unconsciousness is obtained. then by the mixture of nitrous oxide and oxygen as prolonged an anesthesia as ether can give is obtained. Also with sufficient muscular relaxation. Such methods required the introduction of anesthesia machines. The great advantage of nitrous oxide anesthesia is that there is little or no nausea, vomiting or other disagreeable after-effects.

Improvement of all kinds is constantly going forward. Within a few years a new anesthetic substance, ethylene, has been introduced, the discovery of a woman, by the way. It is rapid in action, almost odorless, pleasant to take, and gives a safe, deep anesthesia with no disagreeable after-effects—or seldom with any.

The latest development is what Dr. George F. Chandlier, of Kingston, N. Y., calls "Matin Sleep". This consists in giving luminal the night before the operation so that the patient goes to sleep, apprehension is smothered, and remains drowsy even when arrived at the operating room. About a third the amount of anesthetic is required. "Patients are delighted. They remember little about the operation from the time they enter the hospital up until about the third day, then they find out it is all over."

Luminal was isolated only in 1904, its sleep-giving qualities determined in 1912.

Says Soviet Preparing For War —U. S. Must Check Communism

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Warning that Soviet Russia was a menace and was preparing for war, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart of Cincinnati, President General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, appealed to the American people to keep alive the fires of patriotism and stamp out Communism in this country.

In submitting her annual report to the fortieth annual congress of the D. A. R., convening here Monday, Mrs. Hobart warned that influences were at work in this country which, if not stamped out, would seriously affect the future of the nation. CHILDREN SHOULD HAVE WHOLESOME DESSERTS DAILY

Puddings and Custards Essential for Maintaining Correct Weight

Puddings made of rice, tapioca or cornstarch; custards and ice cream are appropriate desserts for the development of the growing child who is underweight. Such a dessert not only supplements the other food in the meal but causes the child to leave the table satisfied.

The part sugar plays in making these desserts appealing should be considered in relation to other foods. Those which are carriers of vitamins, minerals and roughage can be made as inviting as desserts by the use of sugar as a flavor. Cabbage, onions, cauliflower, turnips, tomatoes, peas and other vegetables—canned or fresh—are much improved in appetizing qualities when seasoned with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. Likewise sugar is ideal on fruits and cereals.

Doctors and dietitians approve this use of sugar. For, when the flavor of a food is inviting to the taste, the flow of gastric juices is increased, thus aiding digestion. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Argue Appeal On Mrs. Aiken's Will

Bequest To Centre U. P. Church And Foreign Missions Before Superior Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 21—The Superior Court on Monday afternoon heard arguments in the appeal of Miss Margaret Jackson from a decree of the Orphans Court of Lawrence county by which the bequest of her sister, Olive Aiken, to the Center United Presbyterian church and the board of foreign missions was upheld.

In arguments before the court Monday it was claimed that G. V. Gibson, a member of the church as a witness to the will was an interested party and that the bequest of $500 to the church should be invalidated.

In her will, Mrs. Aiken bequeathed a half-interest in a farm in Slippery Rock township, and the remainder of the estate to the board of foreign missions of the United Presbyterian church together with a $250 bequest to the church Cemetery Association. The court granted Miss Jackson's petition to sell the farm and receive interest on one-half of the proceeds. The funds were to be held in trust until her death after which, by terms of her sister's will, the money is to be used to provide tombstones on the family plot. Judge Chambers, in an opinion filed in Lawrence county, refused to recognize the connection of Gibson and the church, holding his association too remote to have influenced the terms of the Aiken will.

Attorney C. H. Akens, of New Castle, arguing the case for Miss Jackson, contended in court Monday that Gibson's connection with the United Presbyterian church and through that organization with is board of missions was sufficient to place him beyond the pale of a disinterested witness to the will. He further claimed that through his interest in the church and under the terms of the will Gibson, if he so desired, could have donated the entire $500 to the board of missions.

Counsel for the church and its affiliated societies cited several cases which they claimed upheld the contention that Gibson was not an interested witness. The church and board of missions are incorporated organizations, it was argued, and Gibson held no seat on the board of directors of either one, thus rendering negligible any influence he might have had as a witness to the will.

This play is a comedy with inspiration as well as humor.

Plan To Reduce Kitchen Mileage

Bradford County Housewives To Cut Down Steps

TOWANDA, Pa., April 21—Bradford county housewives are conducting a study to reduce their kitchen mileage.

The steps taken around the kitchen in the process of baking a cake are being charted for the purpose of the experiment, directed by Miss Blanche Coit, county home economics worker and Miss Rosalind Jewett, of State College.

The housewives participating have measured their kitchens and drawn them to a scale on cardboard, marking all the doors, windows and large equipment, such as cupboards, stoves and tables.

Every trip made from one object to another in the kitchen while the cake-baking process is carried through to completion will be marked on the charts.

To complete the study, the housewives will study the diagrammed charts and seek means of lessening the number of steps by re-arranging the kitchen equipment or by reducing the number of moves in the cake-baking process itself.

Other points being considered in the study includes kitchen lighting and ventilation, height of working surfaces arrangement of working centers and sufficiency of storage space.

The aim of the study is twofold, to lessen the fatigue of the housewife and to shorten her tasks to provide more time for other family interests and for leisure.

The first theory advanced by officials was that she had ended her life because of an illness, but Sheriff Vollmer said his deputies found all the boards over the top of the well in their proper places.

Outlook Good, Heads Of U. S. Steel Assert

Future Is Faced With Confidence, Stockholders Are Told

HOBOKEN, N. J. April 21—Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation, expressed a belief "that we can face the future with the fullest confidence," in addressing the annual meeting of stockholders Monday afternoon.

"The stimulus which adversity has given to our efforts to reorganize and improve our industrial structure," he said, "has been very great. We have been passing through some tribulation but, if we emerge from the testing period with improved efficiency and a more highly producing and economical basis of operations, our tribulation will not have been in vain.

"For myself I entertain no doubt that such will be the outcome and with this in mind I believe we can face the future with the fullest confidence."

Improvement Is Seen

President James A. Farrell, noted that March showed substantial improvement in prices of structural steel and other lines and predicted a "reasonably good year" for the corporation if it could obtain a greater tonnage at present prices.

The annual meeting which attracted about 500 men and women to the corporate home of the world's greatest steel corporation in the Hudson Trust Company resulted in ratification of a revised pension plan, materially increasing compensation and fixing the retirement age.

The plan worked out by the board and officers after three years' study foreshadows the retirement in 1933 of Farrell, who has been president since 1911. He hailed it as "the greatest thing the corporation has done with respect to the welfare of its men in its 30 years' history." As ratified by stockholders the voluntary retirement age is fixed at 65 and compulsory at 70. Farrell's seventieth birthday is February 15, 1933.

Farrell said that the revised pension plan provides an incentive to the men down the line who are ambitious and should have an opportunity to reach higher positions, and at the same time provide protection "to those who haven't been as thrifty as they might be."

Engineers Tame Lightning Bolt

TRAFFORD CITY, Pa., April 21.—A 3,000,000-volt lightning bolt has been tamed in the laboratory of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company here. In fact engineers have taught the powerful flash a few tricks.

Engineers developed the high voltage flashes in efforts to develop insulators for sub-stations and power houses to prevent the lightning bolts of nature from wrecking them.

The bolt was made to traverse a 75-foot wire. Traverse is a mild word to describe the flash which came and went in ten-millionths of a second. The wire simply went up in smoke.

Higher voltage could be developed, engineers said, but it would endanger the lives of workers and possibly damage equipment. Ordinarily lightning is believed to carry from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 volts, although it sometimes may be as high as 50,000,000 volts, engineers said.

DAD CHALLENGES CO-ED EXPULSION

Right of state universities to dismiss students whose grades are low is challenged by William West of Portsmouth, O., whose daughter, Jean, has been dismissed from Miami university, at Oxford, O., for failing to pass a mid-semester examination. He is quoted as saying, "It is time someone has challenged the theory that the right to attend our public state colleges is an exclusive privilege." Dr. Alfred Upham, president of the university, says that if West succeeds in obtaining an injunction disciplinary rules of state universities everywhere will be discarded.

Medal To Be Given Soldier For Bravery Act

Will Get Congressional Medal Of Honor For Capturing Prisoner

SAYRE, Pa., April 21.—Search by the U. S. War Department for a former soldier cited for heroism ended in the village of Oswego, N. Y., near here, where the hero was sitting at the wheel of a mail truck.

The soldier, Orin W. Rogers, was cited in March, 1930, for the congressional medal of honor for his bravery in the capture, unarmed, of a desperate prisoner at the Madison barracks of the U. S. Army while Rogers was serving an enlistment as a private.

The medal remained in the possession of the department when efforts to locate Rogers were unavailing. Recently he learned of the citation and wrote for further information.

The reply notified him to be ready within 30 days to receive the medal formally at a suitable ceremony.

The army records show that Rogers and three other soldiers were sent to capture a prisoner after his escape from custody. The fugitive was traced to a wooded section near the camp and Rogers succeeded in coming within 20 feet of the hiding place before discovery.

The fugitive threatened the soldier with a revolver but Rogers kept advancing toward the man and succeeded in tackling him and wrestling the weapon from him before a shot was fired.

English Women Win Dress War

LONDON, April 21.—English women have apparently won their fight with the dress designers who wanted to force ankle-length skirts for day wear.

English designers were strong for long, trailing dresses for both day and evening wear, but fashionable women decided that long frocks were excellent only for dress wear. For the daylight hours, they insisted dresses just below calf-length were the smartest while those dipping to the ground were dowdy and easily bedraggled when worn out of doors.

At a recent dress show in London fashionable women commented favorably on the fact that for once there were no full-length afternoon frocks paraded. Generally, nine inches below the knee was the limit of the day dresses and suits.

Among the evening clothes, however, was a sensational model with a wide skirt of black georgette, a moulded corsage of contrasting green georgette and a most daring V back cut to the waist and supported by a vertical strapping of diamante.

Large hats were worn in considerable numbers, but the women still favor the back-of-the-head turbans, many of which weigh only one ounce.

Scout Leaders Meet On Monday

Second Session Of Scout Leaders Course Is Held In City

The second session of the scout leaders' training course was held last night at the First Christian church with a good attendance present. Four new members were present and in the evening's program were used as candidate scouts for the tenderfoot investiture which was a part of the program. Last night Sidney Smith was named as senior patrol leader, with Dr. Lutz and James Gwin serving as patrol leaders. Each session an acting assistant leader will be named, so that as many men as possible may have the chance of getting in on the "staff meeting" after the regular sessions.

The meeting last night emphasized the patrol method as the only effective system of handling a scout troop. Classes, organized or otherwise, clubs, associations and so on, cannot have the appeal to the boy that the scout troop does, because they are not organized in line with the boy's aims and desires. The patrol system is "the gang" directed and put to work on worthwhile activities.

The song books were tried out and patrol names announced. Dr. Lutz's patrol chose the Owl as the totem for their patrol, while Gwin's crew came through with the title of Brass Tacks. Some more patrol stunts will be tried out next Monday evening. It is hoped that other men will attend these sessions, which are proving very helpful. Ellwood City district reported a well-attended meeting at its last session.

How We Support Hospitals

As a Nation with an annual income of ninety Billion dollars we annually spend three billion dollars on what we term Medical care—inclusive of government agencies supported through taxation. $2,130,000,000 is annually spent by us on non-government Medical services, as follows:

Patent Medicines and Drugs	$700 Million
Doctors	650 Million
Non-government Hospitals	380 Million
Nurses	200 Million
Dentists	150 Million
Quacks and Irregulars	50 Million

We spend $30.00 for cure to every $1.00 for prevention. While contemplating our tremendous non-government Medical service expenditures we should also consider these costs in comparison to other common expenditures. While we annually spend $2,130,000,000 for Medical care we spend in dollars.

Passenger Automobiles	4,000 Million
Tobacco Products	1,800 Million
Candy	1,000 Million
Gasoline (Non-commercial)	1,000 Million
Theaters—entertainment	930 Million
Soft drinks, ice cream, gum	910 Million
Jewelry and Furs	780 Million
Radios and Musical Instruments	440 Million
Sporting Goods—Toys	430 Million
Perfumes, Cosmetics and Toilet Soaps	410 Million

It is easier for us to pay $4.75 for tobacco than it is to pay $1.00 for hospital. And that is just what we are doing; but might we not all feel a little better about it if we stood behind our hospital with half as much money support as we give the tobacco industry.

Of the cases which have so far come to trial, 70 of the offenders were convicted and sentenced. The Bureau is continuing vigorous investigation and prosecution of all cases of incendiary or suspicious origin fires coming before it.

Hold Hearing On Teachers Tenure Bill In Senate

Supporters And Opponents Of Bill Given Chance To Express Views

WOULD PROTECT GOOD TEACHERS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Supporters and opponents of the Mansfield teacher tenure bill were given an opportunity by the Senate education committee to present their views today. The bill would prevent dismissal of teachers by school boards after five years' service unless convicted of immorality, intemperance, incompetency or violation of law.

Miss Arabelle Clarke, Philadelphia, chairman of the legislative committee of the Pennsylvania State Teachers' League, told the committee that the bill would assure competent teachers of employment permanency while it would not act as a shield for those who are unable to qualify.

Four-Year Guarantee

Claiming that the bill in its present form was merely a four-year guarantee of employment for able teachers, Franklin Spencer Edmond, Philadelphia, opposed it on the ground that school boards as a matter of self-protection would dismiss teachers before the restraining dismissal clause became effective.

Edmonds is a regular witness on a wide variety of subjects before legislative committees. He said he did not represent anyone but himself.

Weakness in the present system of hiring teachers and its unfairness to them were summarized by Miss Barbara McGlynn, Wilkes-Barre, who represented the American Federation of Teachers. In her district, Miss McGlynn told the committee, teachers are given a blanket dismissal near the end of the term and do not know of their reappointment if retained until a few days before the start of the next school year. One of the chief duties of a teacher, Miss McGlynn claimed, is to train members of the legislature and school directors who later show their appreciation by unfair legislation and rules covering their former mentors.

Miss Elizabeth Baker, another witness, compared Pennsylvania unfavorably with other nearby states in its treatment of teachers and said that 24 of the 48 states now have teacher tenure laws.

Daylight Time Is Considered

Industrial Leaders Have Conference At City Hall This Morning

Industrial leaders met with members of city council today in the municipal building relative to the adoption of daylight savings time. Council refused to take any definite action but the representatives of the industrial concerns voted to adopt fast time. The exact date has not been designated. The industrial leaders will meet with the school board Thursday night to ascertain their position after which the date when fast time will become effective will be announced.

Following the meeting D. S. Pyle stated that the office force of the mills would start work on daylight savings time, April 26.

While the leaders voted in favor of a five months daylight savings program this may be changed to three months.

It was indicated by councilmen that if the school board adopted fast time city employes may be ordered to start and quit work one hour earlier.

Pittsburgh Fights Fraudulent Methods

Campaign Against Racketeering Opens In Pittsburgh—$8,000,000 Taken Yearly

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH April 21—Aligning itself with 52 other large cities in a nation wide campaign against racketeering, the city of Pittsburgh, through the Chamber of Commerce, today began a battle against "fraudulent financial and merchandising schemes and spurious charity promotions."

More than $8,000,000 is taken from this city by fraudulent methods, the chamber estimated in announcing the creation of the better business bureau of Pittsburgh Inc. the agency through which it hopes to effectually strange "hundreds of rackets."

G. H. Denison, assuming his duties today as the head of the bureau, has declared for an aggressive policy of public exposure for fake advertising and merchandising rackets. For three years Dennison has been engaged in cutting down revenues of fake advertising and charity soliciters as the manager of the Pittsburgh clearing.

House Utilities Report Expected Sometime Today

Report Was Looked For Monday Night, But Failed To Materialize

MEMBERS DIVIDED ON PHRASEOLOGY

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Preliminary report of the House utilities investigating committee, several times delayed, was expected to be presented to the legislature some time today.

The report of the House probers was expected to be turned in at last night's session of the lower chamber, but after a three-hour executive session, in which members could not agree upon phraseology of several section of the report, the document failed to materialize.

During the session, however, differences of opinion were ironed out and there will be no minority report submitted, it was learned.

No major recommendations are expected to be carried in the first report of the House body. It is likely, however, that the statement will recommend creation of a people's counsel to prosecute complaints against utilities, as already recommended by the Senate probe committee and will also recommend that the public service commission scrutinize more closely statements filed with it by utilities for issue of new securities.

Girl Is Granted Right To Attend College Classes

Ohio Hucksters Swarm In City

Unfair Competition To The Merchants And Hucksters Of This District

Chief of Police C. C. Horner today warned the people of the city that there were numbers of hucksters from Youngstown and other Ohio points swarming into the city in an effort to dispose of fruits, vegetables, etc. These hucksters are operating here without licenses and in direct competition with the merchants, farmers and local hucksters and are often selling products which are not up to regulations, he said. Many instances of where the local people have had the worst of the proposition have come to the attention of the police, according to Chief Horner, and he urges people not to patronize these men, at least until they have called the police department and have had them investigated.

REALLY TOOK THE CHAIR

(International News Service)

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., April 21.—Ordered by a criminal court judge here to "take the chair," indicating him to sit down in the witness chair to testify during a trial here, Mike Noval picked up the witness chair and started to carry it toward the door. The court explained that it had not intended the order to be taken literally when a bailiff seized the witness and hailed him before the bar.

CHASE TAX DODGERS

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., April 21.—Atlanta met prospects of a city deficit not with increased taxes but with a vigorous war against "tax dodgers." In three weeks, officers rounded up 6,900 persons who had not been paying tax and collected more than $33,000 from them. In fact, the success of the move has been so great, it will be continued until there are no more "dodgers" at all, the city fathers said.

And juries seem especially dumb to the prosecutor who hasn't brains enough to work up a convincing case.

An appropriate title for almost any play these days is: "Ten Nights In A Bare Room."

Kings Swept From Thrones

(Lower row) Emperor Charles of Hungary, Nov. 16, 1918; Mohammed VI of Turkey, Nov. 1, 1922; George II of Greece, December, 1923, and Alfonso XIII, April 14, 1931.

Hunger Marchers At State Capitol

Delegations To Present Plea To State Legislature Today

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Everything was ready today for the appearance of the "hunger marchers" of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia before the legislature.

For three-quarters of an hour the hall of the house of representatives will be thrown open to the weary caravan which set out from the eastern and western reaches of the state to demand of the legislature and Gov. Pinchot immediate relief for unemployment in the shape of a $42,000,00 appropriation or bond issue.

About three hundred marchers made up the combined delegations when they converged here. From Pittsburgh and the West came slightly more than three-score; from Philadelphia, Reading and Eastern state points came the rest.

Every cooperation was promised the marchers in presenting their demands to the legislature, provided there was no disorder.

After a conference with Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of State police, Allen Harper, secretary of the Pennsylvania Civil Liberties Union, state leaders would be permitted to utilize the house of representatives to present their demands.

One of the marchers, Albert Green, negro of Chester, was arrested by local police shortly after the caravan arrived on a charge of disorderly conduct. The instance was the only one reported.

Asks For Probe Of Coal Freight Rates

Representative Cauffiel Wants Probe Of Rates On Coal Shipped Into State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Coal mined outside of Pennsylvania has the preference in freight rates and importation of such coal into the state has caused widespread economic distress, according to a resolution before the house today by Rep. Paul Cauffiel, Cambria, asking an investigation of coal freight rates.

Under Cauffiel's resolution, which may be acted upon during the day's session, the interstate commerce commission would be called upon to probe the rates charged on coal shipped into Pennsylvania from other states.

The Cambria member charged that coal produced under conditions "amounting to slavery" has come into competition with that mined in the state and both Pennsylvania miners and operators have suffered economic loss as a result.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Let Parent Who's Mad Talk It Out

Shame Follows Scolding If Teacher Is Silent

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

When I talk or write to teachers I advise about as follows:

When parents come to school to scold you, you have an opportunity to prove to them and to your pupils the moral fiber of which you are made. I know as well as you do that parents do not hire you, and rarely do they fire you. You do not have to take abuse from them, nor orders. But you know that the Great Teacher once said, "If a man compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain." He knew whereof He spoke. He advised us to do many things we don't have to do. It is from such deeds that we reap our biggest harvest, clip our largest dividends.

When an irate parent comes to your school room let him say what he pleases. Be wholly calm and courteous. Your gentleness and refinement will be your most powerful weapon. Once that parent has said all the mean things he can think of without your antagonism, he will begin to feel ashamed of himself and will then be ready for quiet reasoning together with you. The parent then who came to curse will stay to pray. And think of your pupils. They will marvel at your courtesy and self-control. They will go home telling their parents how wonderful you were. Other parents with more self-control will come to see you, come with humility to learn of you.

To parents I should say: Never go to school until you have waited long enough to be a perfect master of yourself. Pray first for poise and self-control. Go to learn about your child and talk things over. When your child tells at home some things about the teacher or the school that sound to you very bad, say nothing. Listen carefully and let the child say what he likes, so long as he does not grow abusive. Just remember that you are hearing only one side of the story and that your child may have a good imagination and that he naturally reports matters in his favor. You do not want him to acquire the habit of arriving at conclusions hastily, nor of passing judgment without being sure that all the possible evidence is in.

In case you think the matter should be looked into, even then say nothing to the child; but as soon as you are sure you have complete composure, go see the teacher, without letting the child know about it until after your return.

Just remember that you are not the teacher's boss and that no matter how you feel, your problem is to get such results as will be useful to your child, not just to let off emotional steam. So long as your child must have that teacher, you might as well do the best you can to help him adapt himself to her.

Think about the child and his best interests. If you antagonize the teacher, or say or do anything to cultivate the child's dislike for her, you only make your problems and his worse.

It is possible, indeed, to learn from the teacher some things about your child that you had never known, some things which would help you in being a better parent. In the meantime, pray to your superintendent to select only teachers who are fit to teach.

Cotton Crop Is Another Problem

Federal Farm Board Faces Issue Of New Policy On Cotton Crop

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Federal Farm Board, having adopted a hands off attitude toward the new wheat crop, today faced the task of drafting a new policy on the marketing of this year's cotton crop.

With 1,300,000 bales of last year's cotton held in storage warehouses, the board must decide whether it will retire from buying activities or attempt to peg cotton prices for another season. In all probability, it will announce a retirement from the buyer's market. This was indicated when the board decided to forego further efforts to stabilize the price of wheat by purchases in the open market.

The cotton growers have asked immediate decision, whether the board buys cotton or stays out of the market, because a decision either way—they contend—will help stabilize the market.

With the country experiencing depression, the Hoover leaders realize they must make heroic efforts to stabilize both markets this year—the eve of a presidential campaign. The administration's problem will be doubly difficult, since the board holds huge surpluses from last year's wheat and cotton crops.

Asks Commission For Mrs. Thomsen

Petition Cites Belief That She Is Mentally Ill And Needs Care

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 21.—Stating his belief that Mrs. Frances Thomsen is "mentally ill and in need of institutional care," Warden William B. Healey, of the Luzerne county prison, presented to President Judge W. S. McLean a petition for appointment of a commission in lunacy to determine mental responsibility of the former Pittsburgh school teacher.

The commission, which will probably be named and examine the Wellesley College graduate this week, will determine whether she is mentally responsible for the brutal slaying of Minnie E. Dilley, wealthy, aged, eccentric Forty Fort spinster whom Mrs. Thomsen admitted slaying to save her husband from "an unholy, evil influence" she believed the spinster wove around him in an attempt to force Thomsen to head a "love cult."

Judge McLean took the petition under advisement.

Nesbit Appeals To Superior Court

Makes Appeal From Damage Claim Allowed In Lawrence County Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 21.—David W. Nesbit, operator of a butcher shop at 15 North Mill street, New Castle, on Monday appealed to the Superior Court from a verdict upheld in the Lawrence County Common Pleas Court by which Mrs. Jennie Nesbit, wife of the appellant, was awarded damages by the Workmens Compensation Board for blood poisoning allegedly sustained while employed by her husband in the store.

Mrs. Nesbit was awarded $2,625 and an additional sum for medical and surgical expenses. It was alleged she cut her finger while using a butcher knife in her husband's shop.

Counsel for the insurance company and Mrs. Nesbit argued before the higher court that the testimony of the husband and wife that she was employed by him at $25 a week was insufficient unless corroborated by a third party. It was further argued that the provisions of the Workmens Compensation act do not include a wife, even though she be employed by her husband.

Under the Act of 1848, counsel for the appellees argued, Mrs. Nesbit was empowered by law to make a contract with her husband to work in the butcher shop at a weekly salary. Arguing that the wife was a competent witness before the referee of the Workmens Compensation Board, counsel for the defendant contended that the contract of employment between husband and wife brought the latter within the provisions of the compensation law. Citing a supreme court case that a claim for compensation is not a suit at law, it was argued that although otherwise restrained from suing each other in a tort action, Mrs. Nesbit could recover from her husband under the compensation act.

Brush And Forest Fires Are Menace In Pennsylvania

Reports Indicate Many Serious Fires Are In Progress In State

FORESTRY BUREAU SHOWS SOME ALARM

Scores Of Forest And Brush Fires Burning; In Many Parts Of State

(International News Service)

Latent threats of forest fire danger, forecast last year as a result of the unprecedented aridity, materialized in Pennsylvania today when scattered outbreaks of brush and forest fires drew the admission from Secretary Lewis E. Staley of the Bureau of Forests and Waters that the situation is "most critical."

Mail avaitors whose routes bring them across the Pennsylvania terrain landed at eastern airports today with the warning that scores of forest and brush fires, some of marked intensity, are burning from the Ohio line eastward into New Jersey.

Russell Thaw, test pilot, reported spectacular blazes on Blackwell Mountain.

Precaution Taken

Every precaution was being taken to avert a spread of the menace.

In Western Pennsylvania, guards were stationed about the summer home of Allegheny County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and the Girls' Farm of the Young Peoples Association, threatened by advancing fires in Moon township.

Workmen are repairing the Oak Grove trestle of the Pittsburgh Railways company over Saw Mill Run boulevard, weakened when a brush fire ignited supporting timbers late yesterday.

Nearly 500 acres have been burned over by the Moon township fires early today despite efforts of state fire wardens and volunteer fire workers. Wooded sections of several estates, including those of McGovern, Major Robert M. Ewing and A. E. Roebling, fell prey to the oncoming flames.

Railway Service Halted

Service on the Washington and Charleroi interurban lines was temporarily held up by the trestle fire, while railway buses were used to transport passengers.

Westmoreland county's most disastrous fire broke out last night near Salem, in Derry township, between New Alexandria and Blairsville. The flames cut a wide swath south of the William Penn Highway. A state forest fire crew was dispatched from Ligonier together with wardens and crewmen.

Residents of Ligonier became alarmed when a fire was reported from the state lands above Ligonier and two crews were sent to this region. The alarm proved to be false and was caused, according to state troopers, because of the reflections of fires raging near Indian Creek.

Another Westmoreland county fire was raging today in Donegal township, near the premises of the Knupp Tunnel Club. Four fire wardens from Kregar hurried to the scene with full crews. Tower operators reported that the flames were dying down and were expected to be completely under control today. It was estimated that almost 100 acres have already been burned over in this district.

Three other fires occurred in this region yesterday, fire wardens reported. More than five hours work were necessary to extinguish blazes which raged on the top of Chestnut Ridge, two miles southeast of Torrance, for almost five hours. A small fire occurred yesterday afternoon west of Ligonier. Warden John Johnson, of Ligonier, directed firemen. Another small blaze was also reported at Grays Station yesterday.

Another Somerset fire was reported blazing in the southeastern section of the county with Forester W. L. Byers of McConnellsburg in charge of the firefighters. At Bear Rocks, near Champion, three crews of firefighters were working to stem a blaze in the mountains east of Scottdale.

Throughout central and north-central Pennsylvania, the menace of fire still hung over the woodlands, although most of the major blazes reported in the region were said to be under control.

Coal Region Threatened

In the anthracite region, fires broke out in several places through Columbia, Carbon, Northumberland and Schuylkill county, swept over nearly ten thousand acres of timber and destroyed four barns. Most serious blaze in the region was reported on the Mahantonga and Line Mountains, where a large force of fire fighters gathered to battle the flames.

In Wyoming county, 15 fires were reported within 24 hours, one of them unchecked until it reached the bank of the Huntingdon Creek near Bloomsburg, after burning a wide tract of timber and threatening a group of summer cottages. In Brush Valley, a blaze which sprang up in the dense undergrowth still burned along shoulders of three mountains.

Two children playing with matches near Castenea, in Lycoming county, started a fire which swept 500 acres of timber and burned two dwellings near Lock Haven. The blaze was brought under control after 100 men battled it for several hours. Two smaller fires were reported in the county.

Fear For Gas Wells

Tioga county viewed the fire menace with apprehension as five woodland blazes, steadily burning, were reported and fear grew they might work into the newly-opened natural gas region.

A fire near Tompkins, sweeping 100 acres, was burning toward the Farr well, second shaft brought in the field. Three hundred acres were burned between Gaines and Watrous and 20 acres near Wellsboro Junction. In Bradford county, a fire burned near Moshervill, location of the first gas well in that county, and spread toward the Tioga line.

Several hundred fire fighters were in the field, working desperately to keep the blazes in present areas.

Hope For Rain

Throughout the central section, hope of rains spurred fire fighters. An overcast sky gave hint of showers which might relieve the situation by soaking the tindery woodlands and underbrush.

Wearied volunteers and foresters were still battling a stubborn blaze this morning which swept over more than a 1,000 acres of tinder dry woodlands in the Blue Mountains of Lehigh county near Slatesdale. Despite the efforts of a huge force of men the flames were sweeping toward Lehigh Gap menacing a number of farms and homes.

Grass and woodland fires also were still raging in nearby South Jersey. About 8,000 acres had been burned over in Gloucester county and discouraged fire fighters who thought they had conquered the blaze near West Berlin and Gibbsboro in Camden county, were called out again last night when the flames flared up anew. In nearby Atlantic county the licking flames also continued to spread in spite of heroic efforts by hundreds of volunteers, more than 3,000 acres were swept by flames along a five-mile front paralleling the Harding Highway and the towns of Buena, Richland and Landisville were theatened.

Fire wardens today were in Kane, in the northwest section of the state recruiting every available man for duty in fire lines between Betula and Clermont, 20 miles distant. Over 200 men from Ridgway, Mt. Jewett and Smethport worked through the night and succeeded in keeping the flames from Betula, a village of 200 population, after the blaze had approached within a mile of the village limits.

The fires were still raging today with fears felt that a shift of wind would send them roaring through the woods, out of control. Schools have been dismissed so that older children could join the ranks of the firefighters.

Much damage to oil and gas leases has been reported while an acreage of more than 500 acres of private and game refuge land has been burned off.

First Baptist Men Visit Sharon Monday

Members of the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church motored to Sharon Monday evening to attend a banquet and meeting of the laymen of the Northern Baptist conference.

When all had assembled the delegations from the various churches were asked to rise and the New Castle delegation of 40 men was the largest from any church and the pep singing of this group, under the leadership of "Red" Williams, caused the assemblages to sit up and take notice, and when the orchestra of the class, under the direction of Harry Turner, gave a number of selections, the consensus of opinion was that "they were there".

D. S. Williams made the arrangements for the attendance of the New Castle group.

MEN, 80 AND 75 JOIN FISHERMEN; PROCURE '31 TAGS

Age doesn't seem to bother at least two of Lawrence county's elderly sportsmen when the good ol' fishin' time rolls around, or the official permit docket of Alderman O. H. P. Green would indicate that. Within the past few days the following have procured licenses to swing the hook and line:

Isaac Barnhart, 914 Beckford street, aged 75.

W. H. Todd, Rose Point, aged 80.

Alderman Green reports that both men said they were going to make good use of them while the fine weather lasts.

The new PONTIAC

is a car of unusual grace and beauty . . economical . . powerful . . selling at only

DELIVERED $759 EQUIPPED*

Owners of the new Pontiac are people who know from experience how to judge performance and quality. Theirs is no blind choice. They select Pontiac because it enables them to enjoy fine-car advantages at moderate cost. You'll appreciate these fine-car features:

NEW 60-HORSEPOWER MOTOR—An engine far above old ideas of quality performance possible at this price. Smooth, flexible, dependable—and decidedly economical despite its power.

FISHER BODY CRAFTSMANSHIP—That inimitable beauty of design and styling which contributes so much to motoring pleasure—particularly when you have guests. Upholstery is fine, durable whipcord or mohair. Cushions are form-fitting. There is plenty of room for the comfort of all in the car.

RUBBER-CUSHIONED CHASSIS—A distinctly fine-car feature greatly adding to riding ease. Road shocks are absorbed by rubber insulation at more than 40 chassis points. Rubber-cushioned shackles, an important part of this insulation system, not only promote comfort and stability on the road, but eliminate lubrication at 12 points.

INSULATED CONSTRUCTION—A notable advance in snugness of body structure and insulation which shuts out heat, cold, dampness and excessive noise. Building the cowl and windshield pillars as a single piece prevents leaks and rattles.

LARGE, POSITIVE BRAKES—Brakes that evenly grip all wheels with a stopping power that gives every member of the family new confidence in driving.

If the new Pontiac is anywhere near the motor car price you have in mind, test its actual value for yourself. A demonstration will be arranged at your convenience.

Pinchot Urged To Name Commission For Study Of Tax

Washington County Farmers Protective Association Frames Request

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 21—A resolution urging Governor Pinchot to 'appoint a tax commission to make a thorough study of the laws of Pennsylvania with a view toward preparing a modern tax "bill" was to be forwarded to the capital today by the Washington county farmers protective association.

Almost 200 delegates, representing every township in Washington Co., attended the all-day meeting which adopted the resolution for action in the 1933 legislature.

It was pointed out by speakers at the meeting that the present laws are antiquated, dating back to 1783 when the wealth of the state lay in its farm lands. Development of new sources of revenue was urged by members of the association.

The Rise And Fall Of The House Of Bourbon

NUMBER TWO

With the Catholic league and Spain united against him, Henry IV of Navarre, a Protestant, accepted the church before his throne was secured.

Tax abuses were abolished and new sources of wealth discovered for his subjects. Henry was called the greatest of French monarchs.

Henry was struck down by the dagger of Ravaillac as he was about to take the field against the Habsburgs. It was the 19th attempt on his life.

Louis XIII succeeded Henry, and was influenced by the noted Cardinal Richelieu, who increased the monarchial power and extended the Bourbon realm

Louis XIV, intent on placing his grandson, Philip of Anjou, on the Spanish throne, fought a united Europe. His armies met defeat in three great battles.

Despite the defeats, however, Philip was sustained on the Spanish throne and the reign of the House of Bourbon was instituted in Spain.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of articles on The Rise and Fall of the Bourbon Family in Europe, giving the background of Alfonso XIII of Spain and the events which led to the family's downfall.

Written for Central Press
By FRANK McLEAN

As we have seen the Bourbon dynasty was established on the French throne in 1589 with the accession of Henry IV, of Navarre. He was descended from the union of the son of Louis IX and Beatrix, heiress of Bourbon, and took the throne of France, by virtue of the Salic law, when the male line of the House of Valois ran out.

Henry, however, had some difficulty in maintaining his claim to the throne. A Protestant, who espoused the cause of the Huguenots, he encountered the opposition of Rome. With the Catholic league and Spain allied against him, he found it necessary, despite military victories, to recant and become a member of the Roman church before his throne was secured. In 1598 he signed the famous Edict of Nantes, which secured for Protestants perfect liberty of conscience and the administration of impartial justice.

Then began the constructive part of his reign. Tax abuses were abolished and new sources of wealth and prosperity discovered for his subjects. The first permanent French settlements were established in Canada.

Henry formulated an aggressive foreign policy, bending his energy toward forming a coalition against the powerful Habsburgs in Austria, the ancient enemy of France. He was about to take the field in personal command of an army against them when he was struck down by the dagger of Ravaillas, a fanatic. It was the nineteenth attempt on Henry's life.

Henry generally is regarded as France's favorite monarch. He was without doubt the most imposing figure of his time, and he has taken his place in history as the greatest of the Bourbon kings.

Henry was succeeded on the throne by Louis XIII, his son by his second wife, Maria de Medici. Never a strong king, Louis was influenced by the noted Cardinal Richelieu. The latter's powerful mind obtained complete control over that of the king and his policy effected an increase of monarchical power at the expense of the nobility, the parliaments and the Protestants. Uprisings under members of the nobility were suppressed and the domain of Louis and the Bourbons increased.

Richelieu continued the aggressive foreign policy of Henry IV, waging war against the powerful Habsburgs, humiliating them and acquiring the province of Alsace.

In 1638, Louis' queen, after 23 years of married life, bore him a son, who later succeeded his father as Louis XIV, and later a second son, Phillip, who was to become Duke of Orleans.

Louis XIV ascended the throne of France in 1643, at the age of five, and reigned until 1715. France was the greatest power in Europe and the Bourbons, extending their influence everywhere, its most important family. Louis gathered around him a group of advisers of exceptional ability, and with his own zest for work, built a structure of the most complete despotism.

His court was the most magnificent in all Europe and it fast became the model for those of other European kings and princelings.

His armies in the field extended his domains and his influence. Coalitions were formed against him, but were overcome.

Then came the War of the Spanish Succession. Louis, intent on placing his grandson, Philip of Anjou, on the Spanish throne, on the death of the childless Charles II, took the field and was defeated in the great battles of Blenheim, Ramillies and Oudenarde.

But fortune favored him despite the defeats. Philip was sustained in his claim on the Spanish throne as Philip V. Spain, however, was shorn of her possessions in France and the Netherlands. Thus began the reign of the Bourbons in Spain, which has continued down to the recent abdication of Alfonso XIII.

German "Bluebeard" Pronounced Sane By Examining Doctors

Peter Kuerten, Germany's "Vampire Slayer" Faces Death For Misdeeds

(International News Service)

DUESSELDORF, Germany, April 21—Peter Kuerten, Germany's so-called "vampire slayer," who boasted that he wanted to become the world's greatest criminal today was pronounced sane by a group of examining alienists.

The verdict was regarded by the prosecution as removing Kuerten's last hope of escaping death for his misdeed. He is on trial for sixteen murders, all of which he has confessed.

Christian Endeavor Meets In Central Church Monday Eve

Members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Central Presbyterian church were hosts Monday evening to a large number of young people from New Wilmington, members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Neshannock Presbyterian church.

Rev. W. F. Byers, pastor of the New Wilmington church, accompanied the young folks and addressed the assemblage, stressing the importance of the Christian Endeavor work and the part the young people play in the progress of the church. Short talks were given by various members and the New Wilmington crowd was welcomed by Kenneth Atkinson, president of the local society.

Miss Gladys McNees acted as chairman of the entertainment committee and provided many novel ways of whiling away the evening hours until the social committee: Miss Blanche Bright, Mary Elizabeth Jenkins, Samuel Robinson and Kenneth Cochran, took charge and served a delicious lunch, assisted by Mrs. Jenkins.

The young people started back to New Wilmington at a late hour after thanking the Central young folks for a most interesting and entertaining evening.

Many Amendments To State Road Bill Sought

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, April 21—Enough amendments have been prepared for the administration's township road bill to materially change the contents of the measure. Whether these amendments will be adopted in the Senate is another matter.

The bill was passed finally by the House without change. Its introduction was delayed for several weeks until many members could decide on changes in road sections from the scheme as originally setup by the Highway Department with the aid of the various boards of township supervisors.

Officials of the Highway Department expect changes in routes to be made by the Senate. These differences can be adjusted by a conference committee of both Senate and House after the measure has been passed by the upper branch of the General Assembly.

The legislative reference bureau has prepared a large number of amendments that Senators hope to make in the big bill. The Senate roads committee may not consider all of the changes suggested.

To materially amend the road bill would be an expensive matter. When the measure was introduced it contained more than 1400 pages and was the biggest bill ever to be introduced in the Pennsylvania legislature. Any drastic changes to the bill would necessitate its printing in the entirity.

Committee Plans Deaconess Work

At a committee meeting held Monday afternoon in the deaconess' home on Phillips street, plans were arranged for the work of the new deaconess, Miss Merle Kolb, and some changes made in the work of Miss Ida Schnackle.

Miss Kolb will take up her work in the Simpson and Euclid avenue churches and will devote part of her time to industrial work, part to calling and part to religious training.

After May 1 Miss Ida Schnackle will be superintendent of the deaconess home and will continue her work in the Italian Methodist church, giving over to Miss Kolb the work she has been doing in other lines.

Erie-New Castle Play On Friday

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Impressed With Showing Gridders Have Made

Local Backfield Is Green; New Castle Line Is Heavy With Several Veterans

Only three more training days are left until the New Castle high school spring football team meets Erie Academy in a game at Taggart field on Friday evening. Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh stated on Monday that he is pleased with the way the boys have been showing up and is contemplating presenting a strong team against the highly touted Erie team.

Although the weather is warm and makes it somewhat tough to train, the boys continue their steady pace daily and are coming along fine Coach Bridenbaugh stated.

The lineup on Friday will probably be something like this: Nick Uram, quarterback; Joe Wrona, fullback; Hib Reynolds, Tom Rambo, Bill McIver and Gene Burns at halfback posts; Jimmy Mike and Harry Crisci at tackles; Babiarz and Workman at guards; Mike DeCarbo, center; Ostrosky, Hileman, Ciccone or Kazenski at the ends.

The line is rather heavy with several veterans from last season. The backfield is green, Wrona, Reynolds, Burns, and Rambo have seen little action on the football field. Uram was a second string recruit on last season's team.

Erie comes here with eight lettermen on its team. Three combination of brothers will be seen in action when Academy plays here. Two Schrecks, two Engles and three Snells are on the Erie eleven. In the past few seasons Erie Academy has made an enviable name on the grid field and is highly respected by other high schools in this section.

Tickets for this game are now on sale at the Sporting Goods Store on East Washington street. Reserve seats are selling for 50 cents.

Lockleys Plan Mushball Team

The Lockley Machine mushball team, runners up for the title in the New Castle Mushball League will be back again this year with a fast team. Howard "Fat" Reed is the manager of the team.

The Lockleys will meet on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Fourth Ward fire department on Ray street. Last year the Lockleys won the Industrial title, only to drop the series played with Wampum for the league championship. With last year's team almost intact and the addition of stars like Uhle, Jewell, Dominick, and Lindy Bruce, in addition to the Lockley brothers, the team shapes up as a strong one. Any person wishing a tryout with the Lockleys call Reed at 2240-M, or write to 611 South Ray street.

A SAD, SAD STORY — BY RUBE GOLDBERG

Babe Ruth Hits Two Home Runs

Mighty Slugger Slams Two Homers As Yankees Subdue Athletics

BROOKLYN TEAM WINS FIRST ONE

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 21.—The text of today's sermon is "How the Brooklyn Robins finally won a ball game and what a mighty man is Ruth."

The big getaway for the belated Robins was staged in Philadelphia, where Joe Shaute, right off the street of forgotten men, did some nice flinging and the big stick men of the Dodgers at last found what they were shooting at. Big Butch Lombardi, up from the coast, came through with a sweet obligato for Shaute, crashing two doubles and a single. The Robins, 10, The Phillies, 5, was the score that gave the Rodgers their first win in six games.

Ruth Hits Two

As for Mr. Ruth, we shook our dictionary until its back ached trying to find a new adjective to hang on this great man, noble husband and scintillating, super ballplayer. Anyway, he fairly made the loud speakers shriek with a mighty oration in the fourth inning and up he spoke with another loquacious homer in the eighth.

Lyn Lary happened to be on the base each time George Herman homered and George Earnshaw and the almost speechless world champion Athletics were the victims, 5 to 4.

Berly, a rookie, won for the Giants 4 to 3 over the Boston Braves in the matinee, but Socks Leibold held the New Yorkers to six here and there punches and the Braves garnered the vesper 1 to 0.

Boston's Red Sox clouted a bevy of Washington hurlers for 18 hits, winning 1" to 3. Russell went right along for Boston and hit safely twice.

Cards Beat Cubs

Bob Smith, Chicago Cub pitcher, encountered as much trouble as Mayor Walker, when Jim Bottomley homered in the sixth inning to furnish the St. Louis Cardinals a 3 to 2 triumph and the National League leadership.

Joe Vosmik, rookie garden man, kept sewing seed like a swinging farm hand in one of those millet pictures, getting two hits and a walk to aid Cleveland in collapsing the Detroit Tigers 9 to 3.

Nick Cullop, another gentleman who came to the city and made good, gave the depressed Cincy Reds their first win of the year, blasting a four-sacker to beat Pittsburgh 7 to 5.

Rain overtook the White Sox and St. Louis Browns.

HEAR FAMOUS ORCHESTRA IN PERSON MONDAY

Six residents of the South Side motored to Pittsburgh on Monday evening where they heard in person Ted Lewis and his orchestra, one of the best musical organizations in the country at the present time.

Those who journeyed to Pittsburgh are: Fred Marcella, Jack Blundo, Thomas Marcella, Mike Diano, Sam Cotellies and Mike Frat.

Rookie Players Slamming Ball

Big League Rookies Showing Way To Veterans In Early Season Games

JOE VOSMIK IS INDIAN SENSATION

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The bush league flowers that bloom in the spring may be withered away by June, but they certainly are setting a merry pace for the veterans in the big leagues with the first week of the season written into the records.

Unofficial batting averages compiled by the writer, including yesterday's games, show that five rookies are hitting the ball harder than the recognized leading sluggers who have been through the fire of at least one campaign in the majors.

Vosmik Looks Good.

The five young hopefuls who are running wild with the willow are Joe Vosmik of Cleveland, Ernest Lombardi of Brooklyn, Levy of the Browns and the Walker brothers of Detroit. They have rolled up the following averages:

Vosmik .636, Lombardi .615, Levy .450, Harvey Walker .444, Gerald Walker .444.

This quintet is showing the way to such proven sluggers who have compiled the following marks:

Wally Berger, Braves, .423; Ernie Orsatti, Cardinals, .360; Lew Fonseca, Cleveland, .360; Chuck Klein Phillies, .346.

Behind the first five rookies come six more first-year men who also have compiled gaudy averages as follows:

Larry Bettencourt, Browns, .364; Johnny Vergez, Giants, .357; Jenkins, Browns, .353; Buzz Arlett, Phillies, .348; Red Worthington, Braves, .346; Mickey Heath, Cincinnati, .333.

Other highly-touted recruits have found big league pitching harder to solve, as these figures will indicate:

Nick Cullop, Cincinnati, .278; Crabtree, Cincinnati, .182; Simons White Sox, .286; Luke Appling, White Sox, .250; Irving Burns, Browns .190; Waddey, Browns, .250; Shiver Detroit, .111; Owens, Detroit, .200; Pickering, Red Sox, .250, and Charley Wilson, Braves, .241; Myrl Hoag of the Yankees, who knocked the cover off the ball in the grapefruit league this spring, has failed to make a hit in six times at bat in the past week.

Veterans Not in Shape.

Last year's batting champs have gotten off to a poor start. Bill Terry of the Giants is hitting .276 and Al Simmons of the Athletics is guilty of a .227 average. Weak stickwork by Cochrane, Foxx and Todt also has hurt the A's. Cochrane is batting .208, Foxx .167 and Todt, his understudy, only .059.

Hack Wilson is fuming over his .240 average and Rogers Hornsby is unable to bawl him out, for the Rajah is hitting at exactly the same rate.

Babe Ruth, with two home runs yesterday, has a respectable mark of .394. Lou Gehrig, the other Yankee home run twin, is lagging with a .261 average.

Floyd Herman, Brooklyn's Babe, is doing fairly well with .333, but Lefty O'Doul has been practically useless to the Robins thus far. Lefty is batting .160, about the siz of his collar.

Wrestling Title At Stake Today

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 21.—In a 20th century setting, the old Greek sport of wrestling will get under way tonight when a Greek, Jim Londos, meets a Russian, Kola Kwariani, for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship at the Chicago stadium.

Londos and Kwariani met recently, the match ending shortly after Londos sent the Russian giant out of the ring with his famous airplane spin.

The championship match will go two falls out of three to a finish. Kwariani, who weighs 220 pounds 20 more than Londos, stated he has perfected a defense for the Greek's aerial tactics that will make Londos helpless.

Reds Take Game From Pirates

Lucas Too Strong For Pirates In Cincinnati 7 To 5 Victory

LOOSE FIELDING HURTS PIRATES

CINCINNATI, O., April 21.—The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 7 to 5 yesterday afternoon. Fine pitching by Lucas coupled with loose fielding by the Pirates caused the downfall of the Pennsylvanians.

It was an even game 3-3 until the fifth when the Reds came through with three more tallies. The Pirates rallied in the seventh and batted in two runs. Meine and Willoughby pitched for the Pirates. Nick Cullop hit a home run.

Road Improvement Bids Are Lower

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Bids received so far this year by the highway department for road improvements indicates that a greater mileage might be paved than was planned when the program was decided upon. Contractors are submitting close bids on numerous projects and in many instances the prices are below the average for the past several years.

A mile of bituminous surface treated macadam highway has been generally estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 and concrete twice that amount.

The department has approximately $7,000,000 due it from the federal-aid appropriation. With the money it was planned to improve about 275 miles of highway during the present season. That would run the average price per mile to $25,400.

Last week the department received bids on its first letting of the year. There was one project on which the contractor's price averaged $19,300 a mile. On other projects the low bids averaged $21,100, $22,400 and $22,500 a mile. Some projects the costs were in excess of the $25,000 average. In some instances bridges were included which naturally increase the cost of a job.

All of the road projects so far advertised for this year are to be paid for out of the federal-aid allocation. The fiscal year of the department starts after June 1 but unless the legislature approves the bill to loan $10,000,000 from the general fund there will be little money spent on road building outside of which is included in the federal-aid program.

Ball Yard Banter

By Central Press

Mr. Louis Gehrig of those New York Yankees is rapidly attaining "iron man" fame. The big first baseman is nearing his nine hundredth consecutive game. He started his string 'way back in 1925 when he went in to relieve Wally Pipp who has long since vanished from big league rosters.

* * *

Gehrig hopes to attain a new consecutive game record, but if he does he has still a long way to go.

* * *

The record is 1,307 set by Everett (Deacon) Scott when that veteran was playing short for the Yankees. Joie Sewell came the nearest of any other player to that mark when his string of consecutive games reached 1,103 last summer when illness put an end to his ambitions along those lines.

* * *

Lou is not a typical "iron man" physically. He is big while Scott and Sewell were of the wiry type.

They say the big fellows are most brittle, but Lou has been in there every day for almost six full seasons. And he has been slapping the ball almost without a single batting slump to interrupt his constantly vigorous work at the plate.

In recent years Lou has been Babe Ruth's most formidable home run foe in the American league.

The year Babe cracked out his record of 60, Lou hit 47. Last season Lou hit 41 circuit smashes and was just eight behind the Bambino. Some experts believe Lou will win the American league batting championship this year. Last season he finished two points behind Al Simmons of the Athletics and Al won the title.

Rigle Court Has Interesting Meeting

At the meeting of Rigle Court 9, Tribe of Ben Hur, held Monday evening in the Clendennin hall 15 new members were admitted and W Evans of New Kensington gave a splendid talk on the work of the lodge.

Plans were furthered for the organization of a junior court in the early part of June.

Following the cessation of business Monday evening the members enjoyed a social period of cards and bingo.

May 4 will mark the date of the next meeting.

KNUTE ROCKNE'S BEST STORIES

As Told By DON MILLER
One Of The Famous Four Horsemen Of Notre Dame
Written For Central Press

Some of the older Notre Dame players still tell stories of how they played under hardships through lack of equipment. Knute Rockne's ready wit used to ease the pain in a unique manner.

In those days the showers were that almost in name only. There was very little tape and other materials on hand for the sprained and battered ankles. They had to make the best of it however.

And Rock had a way about him that made the players overlook the lack of equipment.

There's the story of one chap whose shoes were so worn the cleats were all but pushing holes into the soles of his feet. He went over to Rockne to complain about it.

Before the chap started to speak, Rock began.

"In my day-y-y," the coach spoke in his familiar style, "Notre Dame men were inured to hardships. They thrived on them. Now we have a lot of sissies who cry over their little troubles. What's the matter with you?"

"Nothing!" cried the player as he rushed away.

But the best of all was Rock's little bit of advice as water and iodine were slapped on bruises.

"You may not sleep tonight," he'd say, " and maybe not tomorrow night. But you'll be sure to sleep the third night and rest is the best thing for you!"

Home Run Record May Stand Forever

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., April 21.—If the "rabbit ball" of the past few years has passed from existence, as baseball manufacturers claim, the 1930 home run record of the major leagues may stand as a monument to the "slugging era."

In 1930 major league home runs totaled 1,565, baseball officals here announced. The National League contributed 892 of the total and the American League 673.

MICHIGAN SPORT CAPTAINS IN NINE

The captains of three major sports are all members of the University of Michigan baseball team. They are shown above, left to right, Norm Daniels, basketball captain; Jack Tompkins, baseball captain, and Roy Hudson, football captain-elect. Daniels also plays football, while Tompkins is a hockey star, and Hudson excels in basketball.

The

GREATEST VALUE IN OLDSMOBILE HISTORY

NEW LOWER PRICE

$845

The new Oldsmobile for 1931 offers you the greatest value in Oldsmobile history—and Oldsmobile cars of past years have earned a nationwide reputation for sound value.

This statement is based on provable facts, which you can check to your satisfaction.

For example, the new Oldsmobile is equipped with the famous Syncro Mesh transmission—a feature heretofore found only in higher priced cars. It permits silent shifting through all gears . . . from low into second, from second to high, and from high back to second, as desired. In addition, a new Quiet Second Gear, added to Oldsmobile's Syncro-Mesh transmission, assures smooth, swift acceleration which rivals high gear performance in quietness.

Performance, too, is even more pleasing than in the past. A new down-draft carburetion system brings increased power—with higher speed, faster acceleration, and greater smoothness. It also makes starting in cold weather quicker and easier. And a new carburetor-silencer contributes to quieter operation at all driving speeds.

Further, the new Oldsmobile offers finer coachwork. Body lines are long, low, and smart. Fundamental advancements in engineering and construction make the new insulated Fisher bodies strong, quiet, and serviceable. And new appointments, together with smartly tailored upholstery . . . optional in mohair or whipcord . . . add to the luxury of body interiors.

An additional contribution to distinctive appearance is Oldsmobile's new wheel equipment. Five modish wire wheels or five demountable wood wheels are offered optionally—and at no extra charge.

These features, and others which you will see when you examine the new Oldsmobile, add to the quality and dependability of a car which has proved its merit in the hands of nearly a quarter of a million owners during the past three years.

Naturally, this finer quality makes the new Oldsmobile a better buy than ever. And lower prices, plus added quality, make Oldsmobile's value doubly impressive.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing values. Some low values are apt to be dear for you, for reasonable difference between Oldsmobile list and delivered prices.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Central Press Sports Editor.

The Brooklyn Buffoons, sometimes referred to as the Robins or Trolley Dodgers, can't miss winning the National league pennant if their opponents' sense of humor hold out.

Already the Brooklyns, a boisterous collection of comedians who play first-class baseball, have the rest of their league howling with laughter. By the time the Flatbush Funny Boys meet such tough babies as the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals these teams should be so weak from uncontrollable mirth that they ought to be pushovers.

Maybe it's all part of Uncle Wilbert Robinson's dark strategy—to lull the foe into the belief the Brooklyn lineup is composed of Charlie Chaplin, Ed Wynn, Harold Lloyd the Four Marx Brothers with Laurel and Hardy as the battery. Under the impression that they are watching a movie the other boys relax as Babe Herman (screened by a cloud of laughing gas) sneaks to the plate and—bingo!—a home run and there goes the old ball game.

Heretofore the Brooklyns have held off on their gags until warm weather set in, so the fans could unbutton their vests without fear of a cold and do their laughing in the height of comfort. But not this season. This is the year the Flatbush Flock figures to win and, as a result, they are holding nothing in reserve.

The first gag has already been pulled. And it was a wow.

Al Cohen, a rookie Brooklyn outfielder, made his big league debut by batting out of order and getting away with it. This could, of course, happen only to a Brooklyn rookie. No other team possesses players schooled in such a subtle form of wit.

It all began when Babe Herman began muffing fly balls in right field. As Brooklyn went to bat the Babe got to arguing with Robinson.

"Well," he snapped, at last, "put somebody out there who can get 'em!"

"I will!" Robinson snapped back and announced that Ike Boone, a hard-hitting but non-fielding outfielder, who had just batted for the pitcher, Earl Mattingly, would replace him next inning.

Boone believed it. He rushed out to right field when Brooklyn's half of the frame ended. So did Herman. Meanwhile, Del Bissonette had notified the umpire of the change. Too late, the manager discovered what had happened. He didn't want Boone out there. But Herman now had to be removed from the game. So Al Cohen, the rookie, was sent out to play the position.

Since Boone had batted in place of the pitcher, Cohen, as Boone's substitute, should have batted ninth in the lineup. But when the Brooklyn half of the sixth arrived Cohen went to bat first, batting in Herman's position, which was third in the batting order. Instead it should have been either Cy Moore, who had replaced Mattingly, or Ernie Lombardi, who had come into the game as catcher the same instant Moore had taken the mound.

While the sports writers screamed from the press box with no one paying attention to them, Cohen singled. Four other batters followed him before the inning ended. In the seventh Lombardi led off and then who appeared at the plate again but young Mr Cohen! This time, however, he was batting in his proper position.

Again Cohen hit safely and completed the incredible feat of making two hits in one legal time at bat.

Thus did the Brooklyns make their 1931 bow in a game that should have been reviewed by dramatic critics instead of reported by sports writers. This first laugh of the season was not only funnier than some of the Brooklyn stunts of the past such as runners passing each other on the base paths, but it also showed fine promise, coming so early in the year of a campaign jammed with jokes.

But don't forget that there's a great possibility of Mr. Robinson's boys enjoying the last laugh—as they cash world series checks.

Boy Scout News

To Confer Tonight

Troop committeemen of the soon-to-be organized Boy Scout troop of the First United Presbyterian church on Clenmore boulevard, with the newly-selected scoutmaster, Ernest D. Hawk, will meet this evening with Scout Executive Herbert Horton to place finishing touches on the final plans. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

Howard, Brown Lead

Elks Troop 5 held its weekly meeting recently, with Assistant Scoutmaster Sandy Howard and Senior Patrol Leader Harry Brown in charge of the opening exercises. Games were played during the evening hours. Closing exercises were then conducted and the troop dismissed. Because of unfavorable conditions the meeting was short.

Troop reporter, Jim Taylor.

First Baptist Troop

The meeting of this group was held last night at the church with eight scouts and four visitors present. Jack Iseman and Wilbur Thomas were admitted as new candidates. Instruction in first aid was given the scouts who were ready for it. A troop hike is planned for this Saturday; the troop to meet at the church at 8 a. m. A treasure hunt will be the feature of the hike if weather permits, and scout signs will be used. The next week's meeting night will be announced at this time. The group is working toward its charter night, which will be held soon.

William Wallace, scoutmaster.

Pamphlets In Mail

Pamphlets telling of the activities and plans for the 1931 season at Camp John M. Phillips, which opens in June, have been distributed through the mails by scout headquarters, Scout Executive Horton announces. The four-page leaflet includes the date, the things a boy needs for camping and a general discussion on camp life.

Troop 17, First Presbyterian

This troop held its regular meeting on Friday evening with 26 scouts present. A five-minute drill was led by Senior Patrol Leader Herl Christmann. The color guards were Robert Love and William Teby, with Lud McCormick and Dick Hamilton. Games were played in the period for that, and the closing call was blown by Bugler Bill Powell. The meeting was the last one of the contest meetings conducted by the troop.

Stock Market Trading Dull During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 21.—Sharp breaks in a handful of the market specialties accompanied the moderate reaction in other sections of the stock market this morning. Traders who had purchased stocks at the low prices of the last day or two rushed in for their profits, and selling from this source flattened out the rallies in the active industrials.

United States Steel was pushed down to a new low for the year at 129⅜, after starting the session at 131.

Auburn Auto and Ingersoll Rand were again the leaders in the downward plunge of the specialties, losing about 11 points each. Ingersoll Rand at 133⅜ was down 11⅛ for the day and 20 points from yesterday's best price. The company earned $4.72 last year, against $10 a share in 1929 and divided requirements of $6 a share. Industrial Rayon lost at additional 5½ points at 33; Goodrich preferred was down 4 and Western Union fell off 6 points to 116.

The Farm Board at Washington strenuously denied that it was planning to dump its holdings of Wheat on the foreign markets and the Grain market held fairly steady. Cotton lost about 50 cents a bale, but commodity markets as a whole were firm. No changes of importance were noted in the money market.

In the absence of outside buying demand, stocks settled down to their own weight in the second hour, with trading extremely dull and quiet. American Tel. and Tel. fell of 3¼ points to 186¼. General Electric lost a point and other speculative leaders declined a point or so. Professional juggling of the active stocks accounted for the bulk of the market's activity, and as in the last few days, the Rails, Coppers, Oils and other prominent groups were again on the shelf. Call money loaned at 1½ per cent.

accounted for, are declared to have been entirely destroyed. Damage for contents of the building alone was set at $40,000 by Chief Lynn.

A box car of roof paint, containing also a large supply of pipe, it was reported, was also destroyed. The box car was situated near the smaller wooden building adjoining the big barn. Forty tons of straw were also burned in the blaze.

The fire was discovered by H. W. Miller, telegraph operator at Pennsylvania railroad's HF tower, located near the Scanlon property. Miller, in the act of shifting a track lever, noticed flames shooting from the wooden structure. He telephoned central fire station.

At about the same time Joe DePetro, a railroad laborer also saw the fire and rang an alram from the fire box at Lafayette and Montgomery.

When No. 7 station firemen arrived the big barn was a mass of flames. A second alarm was immediately sent for additional help. Three more fire companies, No. 5 and 6, and from B from central station responded. Firemen off duty and volunteers from all parts of the city arrived in a short time.

At the outset of the blaze, before additional apparatus had arrived, the interior of HF tower was heated by the fire. Telegraph and telephone cable insulation began to smoke. Miller, the telegrapher, called the New Castle dispatcher, telling him that he might have to leave his post, since there was danger then that the tower itself would catch on fire.

A quantity of dynamite was removed from the burning barn by Scanlon before the flames had gained in proportion.

Straw Feeds Flames

Four streams of water from approximately 2,000 feet of hose laid by three companies were soon turned on the flames, which by that time had so completely enveloped the structure that the chance of saving it was out of the question.

Forty tons of straw in the burning building fed the flames and were responsible for the length of time spent at the fire by firemen. In addition to straw highly inflammable builder's material encouraged the flames.

While city fire authorities were today making a survey of the fire ruin in an effort to determine, if possible, cause for the blaze, Scanlon and his employes were checking up on the loss.

Several steam shovels were fortunately saved, since they were parked several hundred feet from the burning barn.

Streams of water were directed against the railroad cables near HF tower early during the fire, thus permitting the wires to continue working. James Rinold, signal foreman, made an inspection and declared the circuits were in working order.

Cause of the fire was still undetermined today. Residents in the vicinity expressed a belief last night that the flames may have been caused by a passing engine.

Considerable excitement took place in the Seventh Ward during the height of the fire. Hundreds gathered around the blaze. Automobile traffic was halted for a time by the lines of hose.

The Pennsylvania railroad bus that plies between the Cherry street station and the New Castle station, was delayed for a half hour.

The Decision

The court held against Steve.

The judges reasoned thus:

A prison may be small or large, but it must have a boundary. There was no boundary in this case. While Steve could go no further, he could return whence he came. He therefore was not detained.

LAST OF TRAIL

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 21.—The final step in the evolution of an ancient Indian trail into a paved highway was taken here recently when local attorneys, acting as representatives of Clarence L. Ireland, attorney general for Colorado, filed a land condemnation suit to secure a right-of-way for the proposed automobile highway through Ute pass, west of here. Ute pass is one of the historic highways of the old west. Indians used the natural defile through the mountains for centuries in making their way across the Rock Mountains.

KEEP CAGEMEN HOT

(International News Service)

PALO ALTO, Cal., April 21.—An innivation that keeps basketball substitutes "hot," an idea of Coach Johnny Bunn of Stanford university, is being looked on with great favor by coast basketball teams. Bunn has introduced the system of an extra-small court outside the pavilion where reserves, instead of sitting on the bench while the game is being played, warm up constantly. Thus, when they are called to enter the game, they are, in sport jargon, "hot."

Bridge Damaged At Rochester

Structure Ordered Closed After Blaze Monday Afternoon—2,000 Phones Out

Fire, which is believed to have started from a spark from a Pennsylvania railroad locomotive, did serious damage to the bridge spanning the Beaver river between Rochester and West Bridgewater. The bridge has been ordered closed to traffic and it is believed it will have to be replaced.

The fire destroyed two local cable lines and a toll cable between Rochester and Beaver, West Bridgewater and Midland. Midland has a toll cable outlet by way of East Liverpool, officials of the telephone company here stated this morning, but Beaver and West Bridgewater were dependent on the Rochester exchange, and residents in these two towns will be without service until Wednesday evening.

B. C. McCune, manager of the Rochester office, stated that work on the repair of the cable lines would be continuous until service is restored.

The bridge was recently taken over by the state and will probably be rebuilt by them, should this be deemed necessary. If the structure has to be replaced, it will cost approximately $250,000 T. J. Wilkerson, Beaver county engineer, estimates.

Agricultural Department Seeks New Legislation

HARRISBURG, April 21.—A number of bills have been introduced into the General Assembly at the instance of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, according to John A. McSparran, Secretary of Agriculture.

One of these is a bill authorizing a Pennsylvania Official Egg-laying Contest, specifying a location for the contest on ground not far from the Pennsylvania Farm Show Building in Harrisburg, and providing an appropriation of $85,000 for the coming biennium to construct the necessary buildings and carry on the contest.

An "egg grading" bill provides that all eggs, except those sold by a producer directly to the consumer, shall be graded, labeled and sold according to official standards to be established by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. The so-called fresh egg law of the department is amended to provide for the new grades.

An amendment to the cold storage law has been presented to exempt state-owned institutions from paying the $50 cold storage license fee. The department retains the authority, however, to supervise the methods of cold storage of food, and the disposal of it as practiced in these exempted institutions.

An important amendment to the "egg opening law" is requested. It requires that incubator reject eggs —infertile eggs removed from incubator after 10 days—must be labeled as such and that when such eggs are used in the preparation of food products, as cakes, the product (when offered for sale) must be labeled with the words "Incubated Eggs Used."

Of Interest To Dairymen.

Of particular interest to the dairyman is the amendment to the "milk testing law" which will give the department supervision over the payment for milk on other bases than the Babcock butterfat tests. It is explained that in a number of plants, bonuses or additional payments are made according to the bacterial count of the milk. As the law now stands, the department has no authority to check such payments to make sure they are correct.

An amendment to the fertilizer law has been submitted to require the guaranteeing of nitrogenous materials in fertilizer as "nitrogen" rather than as "ammonia" as required in the present act. This will eliminate confusion and bring the law in harmony with modern methods, according to officials.

A bill has been submitted by the department to simplify the procedure in computing tuberculosis indemnity claims by taking the actual value of the salvage rather than an estimate of it. The bill also makes a distinction between pure-bred registered and grade non-registered swine, sheep and goats. The present law limits the amount of indemnity to $10 regardless of breeding. The new bill allows a maximum of $10 for non-registered and increased the maximum of registered to $25.

Another bill provides more adequate safeguards for tuberculin tested herds against infection from outside sources, and makes the requirements in Pennsylvania conform with the methods of conducting T B tests in other states.

Lastly, a new and complete piece of legislation has been drafted by the attorney general to give the department all the necessary authority to prevent and eradicate animal tuberculosis effectively and economically.

Ministers Of City Hear Mrs. Dibble

Hear Reports Of Salvation Army And Rescue Mission And Appoint Committee

The New Castle Ministerial association had the pleasure of having a woman speaker at their regular bi-weekly meeting Monday morning in The Castleton, when Mrs. George Dibble, the woman evangelist, who is speaking nightly in the Epworth Methodist church, addressed the assemblage on "Evangelism Today", giving a splendid exposition of the work they are doing.

Henry MacNichols, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., talked to the ministers on "Church Athletics" and requested that the association appoint a committee to stir up a better constitutional condition in the church baseball league. There were appointed on this committee Dr. S. L. Maxwell, Dr. G. S. Bennett, Rev. Rees T. Williams, Dr. A. J. Randles and Dr. C. B. Wingerd.

Ensign Thomsen of the Salvation Army spoke most feelingly about the work being done in the city by the Salvation Army, and B. J. Watkins, superintendent of the Rescue Mission, gave a report of the work being done by the mission among the needy of the city.

Ice Proves Poor Substitute For Watering Trees

HARRISBURG, April 21—An entirely new method of watering trees was discovered by Raymond Carlson, Assistant forester in the Weiser Forest District of the anthracite region during the recent drought in Pennsylvania when the ingenuity of many a farmer, horticulturist and home gardener was put to the extreme test in providing water for his crops, trees and live stock.

While Forester Carlson was making examinations of forest tree plantation sites for the Bureau of Extension in the Department of Forests and Waters, a landowner of Lehighton, Carbon county, explained to him the difficulties he had met in caring for some hemlock trees transplanted from the woods to his front yard.

The tiresome job of carrying large quantities of water daily to water the trees set him to thinking. He finally took 100 pound cakes of ice from his ice house and put them at each tree, replenishing them as soon as they melted. This was quite often, as he soon discovered, and in spite of all his efforts the trees died. "In addition to losing all my trees" said the planter, "I discovered that while my trees were dying my supply of ice was giving out even more rapidly, so that I was soon without both trees and ice, but I am going to plant more of them this spring."

Gas Dealers Who Evaded Tax Now Pay Voluntarily

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Clyde L. King, secretary of the state department of revenue, today announced that the department's investigation into the delinquent liquid fuels tax situation is uncovering numerous retail dealers operating without a permit.

"The revenue department's campaign to collect delinquent liquid fuels taxes owed the state is bearing fruit in an unexpected manner," Secretary King said. "Apparently realizing that the department means business, a number of delinquent dealers have voluntarily asked an audit of their accounts. They have paid the back tax, the interest due and the penalty attached for failure to make returns to the state. The department welcomes such voluntary action, but in return makes no compromise or concession.

"This money belongs to the state. It is collected by the dealers from the taxpayers for the state. The revenue department proposes to see to it that it be turned over to the state. There is no discrimination. The department is after the big dealer who is delinquent as well as the little fellow."

Revives War Plan For Garden Plots

HARRISBURG, April 21.—A revival of the "war gardens" of 1914-1918 in Lehigh and Northampton counties has been reported to Clyde L. King, secretary of the State Revenue Department by chairmen of the unemployment committees of those counties.

R. J. Wheeler, Lehigh county chairman, has called into action the "Vacant Lot Farmer's Association" for the purpose of stimulating interest in the small garden plan. The association organized in 1914 and never disbanded. Similar gardens are being established in Bethlehem and other sections of Northampton county, according to A. H. Buck, chairman of the Northampton county committee. The gardens are being operated on a small scale so as not to interfere with stores and markets.

The teletypewriter system, as used in Pennsylvania, has found favor in adjoining states, New Jersey having adopted the system, and a bill is now pending before the legislature of the State of New York covering an installation of similar type.
